MAYOR COLLINS CUTS TAXES PREVENTS $16 TAX HIKE

On Wednesday, July 6, Mayor John F. Collins announced a decrease in the Boston tax rate. The new rate is $100.70—a reduction of 50 cents over last year.

In announcing the new tax rate, Mayor Collins said, "Had we failed to meet the challenge which confronted us when we took office only six months ago, the tax rate would, in all probability, have increased by $16."

The Mayor explained that in January his administration inherited $10,000,000 in built-in increases. This, he said, represented a potential jump in the tax rate of $6.50. He also pointed out that he was faced with $13,000,000 in additional departmental requests which would have added another $9.50 to the tax rate. "Thus," he noted, "a $16 tax increase confronted us as we assumed office."

Mayor Collins said if the tax rate had actually increased $16—as was the prospect—the city would have been on the brink of bankruptcy.

"The decrease in the tax rate which I announced today," Mayor Collins said, "is the result of an earnest and sincere effort on my behalf and my administration to control expenditures and institute economies wherever possible without disrupting or discontinuing essential city services to which the residents of Boston are entitled."

"To prevent an increase in this year's tax rate was a major accomplishment in itself, but to grant a decrease while the cost of government at every level continues to soar is an accomplishment of which I am proud."

"I can visualize many great changes for the better within the next few years which should result in the broadening of our tax base and the reversing of our tax rate trend which has been leaping without restraint for six years, and which, in all probability, would still be on the rise except for our program of austerity, vigilance, and progress."

The Mayor concluded, "In order to lessen the burden of the citizens of Boston we must find additional sources of revenue, and in this connection we are obliged to look to the Legislature for the relief to which Boston is entitled. I will need the continued cooperation of the people of Boston to accomplish my many aims. We were elected by the people and it is the people who must decide if Boston is to continue along the road to prosperity and progress."

CITY AUDITOR LALLY APPLAUDS MAYOR COLLINS' TAX CUT

SAYS DECREASE "UNPARALLELED IN CITY'S HISTORY"

Following are the remarks of City Auditor Joseph P. Lally concerning the tax cut:

There is a good deal of significance in the announcement by his Honor the Mayor of the 1960 tax rate which ought not to go unnoticed.

Had Mayor Collins succeeded only in holding the tax rate to its 1959 level, this, in itself, would have represented the culmination of several months of very hard effort on his part to offset nearly $23,000,000 in increased charges for 1960.

That the Mayor has gone even beyond this goal and has made an actual reduction in the rate is, I believe, in consideration of all of the factors involved, an event unparalleled in the fiscal history of this city. The Mayor was determined to accomplish what I would have considered some months ago an impossible feat. That he has succeeded so magnificently attests to the vigor and determination of his new administration.

Bostonians have good reason to be very pleased and happy today. This is a sound and "ungimmicked" tax rate. It will certainly greatly improve Boston's general financial picture.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

June 28.

General Order No. 742.

Acting under provisions of chapter 658, Acts of 1945, as amended (State-Boston Retirement System), the Boston Retirement Board has approved for retirement the following-named police officer, effective at the close of business Thursday, June 30, 1960.

In view of this operation of law, after June 30, 1960, the said police officer shall no longer be an active member of this department, and it is hereby ordered that its records be so amended:

Detective (Second Grade) John R. McCallum, Detective Bureau.

June 30.

General Order No. 743.

The following reassignment is hereby ordered to take effect Friday, July 1, 1960, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.:

Sergt. John E. Barry, Jr., from Division 3 to Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

July 5, 1960.

General Order No. 744.

Detectives Joseph G. Cunningham, James W. Moar, John V. Nee, and Francis D. Powers of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Special Service Squad, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 10.35 P.M., June 9, 1960, Detectives Nee and Powers in Special Service Car No. 1 and Detectives Moar and Cunningham in Special Service Car No. 5, responded to a holdup call from the turret at the Boris Beverage Company, 220 E street, South Boston. Upon arrival, Julia Arlauskas, manager, stated to the officers that two men entered her store about 10.33 P.M. No. 1 man, white, 25 years, 5-foot 6, 150 pounds, dark complexion, asked for a bottle of Schenley whisky and beer. Mrs. Arlauskas stated she did not sell whisky. At this time, No. 1 man pulled a blue steel revolver from his pocket and said, "Never mind, give me the money." At this time she noticed No. 2 man, white, 25 years, ruddy complexion, partially masked with a woman's silk stocking covering his upper face, standing inside the store near the door. She passed the money from the cash register to the No. 1 man who said, "I want all of it," and pointed under the cash register. She passed him this money and both men fled on foot from the store.

Detectives Cunningham, Moar, Nee, and Powers questioned a woman customer, Mrs. Mary Gagin of 219 E street, South Boston, who gave the same description of the men. Mrs. Arlauskas stated about $190 in U.S. currency was taken. Armed with the descriptions of both holdup men, the detectives made a search of the area near the store and visited various drinking establishments in the South Boston section.

On June 10, 1960, while off duty, the above officers again visited drinking establishments, suspected hangouts of known criminals, in order to question recent parolees. During the investigation, the detectives had occasion to visit 116 West Broadway, South Boston, apartment No. 3, occupied by Robert G. and Mary Rickens and Thomas M. Mussrides. While in the kitchen of this apartment, the detectives noticed a blond Hi-Fi set in the parlor and recalled that a set of this type was stolen in a break at the Parker Furniture Company, 760 Washington street, Boston. A check of the set showed that it was stolen from Parker Furniture Company.

Mrs. Rickens was questioned about the Hi-Fi set and four table model radios which were found hidden in a closet under some clothing. She told above detectives that Friday morning, June 10, 1960, about 2.30 A.M., she and her husband were awakened by a knocking at the door, that her husband got out of bed and admitted the two men carrying the Hi-Fi set, who asked her husband if they could leave the set as they wanted to contact a third party to come to the house to look at it.

One of the men then left the house and returned to the apartment carrying the four small radios. About 7 P.M., June 10, 1960, Robert Rickens returned home from work and was questioned by the detectives. He identified one of the men who brought the stolen property to his house as Donald Gagnon, 22 years, white, of 21 Leedsville street, Dorchester, and told the officers that Gagnon was expected at the house later that evening. The detectives waited and about 8.30 P.M., same date, Gagnon entered the house whereupon he was arrested and brought to Headquarters. Upon being questioned, Gagnon admitted breaking into the furniture store with another man whom he had met earlier in the evening at the Golden Nugget on Essex street, City, but didn't know his name.

Donald Gagnon was booked as a suspicious person, suspicion of breaking and entering in the nighttime, and was photographed and fingerprinted. On June 13, 1960, the officers appeared in Boston Municipal Court, Judge Riley presiding, Commonwealth v. Donald L. Gagnon, 22 years, single, white, charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny from the building. The case was continued to June 21, 1960, and bail set at $10,000, at which time, before Judge Morrissey, the defendant waived examination to Suffolk Superior Court.

On June 11, 1960, while continuing the investigation of the holdup of the Boris Beverage Company, the officers went to 193 D street, South Boston, at 3.30 A.M., the home of James F. Hogan, 24 years, single, a recent parolee from Walpole Correctional Institution, armed robbery. Hogan was brought to Police Headquarters and questioned, but no mention was made relative to the Boris Beverage Company holdup. During the questioning, Hogan stated he was not the man who held up Boris Beverage Company. The officers asked him why he made this statement and he replied, "I just thought that is why you picked me up." He then continued to deny the holdup. He appeared in the lineup on June 13, 1960, and was positively identified by the customer, Mrs. Mary Gagin, as the No. 2 man in the aforementioned holdup.

On June 13, 1960, Detectives Nee, Cunningham, Powers, and Moar appeared in South Boston District Court, Judge Linehan presiding, Commonwealth v. James F. Hogan, charged with armed robbery while masked of Julia Arlauskas on June 9, 1960. Having before been convicted of like offense, Hogan waived examination and was held for the grand jury. Judge Linehan set bail at $10,000, double surety.

On June 15, 1960, Detectives Nee, Powers, Cunningham, and Moar of the Special Service Squad brought to the Dedham Jail one Julia Arlauskas, owner of the Boris Beverage Company located at 220 E street, South Boston. She viewed one Walter Faherty, single, 22 years, of 4 Webb place, South Boston, and she positively identified him as the No. 1 man who carried the gun and held her up.

On June 23, 1960, the aforementioned officers appeared in South Boston District Court, Judge Linehan presiding, Commonwealth v. Walter Faherty, 4 Webb court, South Boston, charged with armed robbery at the Boris Beverage Company, 220 E street, South Boston, of the owner, Julia Arlauskas, on June 9, 1960. The case was continued and Faherty was held in $50,000.

On June 28, 1960, James F. Hogan and Walter Faherty were indicted and on June 30, 1960, before Judge Lewis Goldberg in Suffolk Superior Court, their cases were continued to September, with Hogan being held in $10,000, double surety and Faherty in $10,000 bail.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the intelligent investigative work performed by these four detectives in this case which resulted in the apprehension of dangerous individuals who if not taken into custody would have continued in their life of crime with a possible fatal injury to one of their subjects.

In recognition of the exceptional and outstanding police duty being performed by these officers, it is hereby ordered that Detectives Third Grade Joseph G. Cunningham, James W. Moar, John V. Nee, and Francis D. Powers of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation be promoted to detective second grade, effective forthwith.

July 6.

General Order No. 745.

Detectives Edward J. Walsh, Thomas E. Connolly, and Daniel E. Donahue of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Special Service Squad, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 9.50 P.M., June 8, 1960, William McIntyre, 44 years, of 8 Granville street, Dorchester, a clerk in the Looney Liquor Store at 778 Adams street, Dorchester, was held up and robbed of $129 in U. S. currency by a lone gunman armed with a black revolver, who was described as about 40 to 45 years of age, ruddy complexion, and wearing a brown suit coat and hat, no other description.

About 10.28 P.M., June 10, 1960, John Tobin, 42 years, single, of 91 Tebroc street, Dorchester, a clerk in the James Liquor Store at 137 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, was held up and robbed of $90 in U. S. currency by a lone gunman described as about 45 years, slim build, ruddy complexion, wearing a brown coat and brown soft hat, armed with a black revolver, who stated, "This is a holdup." He left the scene and joined an accomplice who was waiting in a 1958 gray Chevrolet sedan. The Chevrolet sedan was pursued by police cruisers from Divisions 9, 10, and 11 and eluded capture when police cruisers of Division 9 collided.

The Chevrolet sedan was later found abandoned on Chadwick street, Roxbury, by Sergt. John J. Ridge and other officers of Division 9 who observed, in an alley near the parked vehicle, a paper bag which contained a .38 caliber, fully-loaded Harrington and Richardson revolver. A stakeout was maintained and at 1.30 A.M., June 11, 1960, one Paul Downs was taken into custody at he entered the alley.

After thorough investigation by Detectives Walsh, Connolly, and Donahue, information was obtained that one Louis Mattos, 49 years, single, of 78 Carver street, Boston, and one Paul Downs, 30 years, single, of 947 Adams street, Dorchester, both with prison records, could be implicated in these robberies. Photographs of these subjects were obtained and the clerks, William McIntyre and John Tobin, positively identified Mattos as the bandit who committed the holdups in their respective establishments.

On June 20, 1960, these detectives visited Swampscott, Marblehead, and Plymouth on information that Mattos might be employed in those areas. On June 22, 1960, after many off-duty hours in the investigation of this case, Detectives Walsh, Connolly, and Donahue arrested Louis Mattos at the corner of Broadway and Shawmut avenue. During this time, the said Paul Downs was in custody of Division 11 for other offenses, namely, forgery and lewd and lascivious cohabitation.

On June 23, 1960, in the line-up at Police Headquarters, Louis Mattos was identified by both victims, with the subject Paul Downs, as an accessory in the holdup of the James Liquor Store at 137 Bowdoin street, Dorchester. That same morning in the Dorchester Municipal Court, Louis Mattos and Paul Downs were charged with the armed robbery of the James Liquor Store. They were held for the grand jury, indicted on June 28, 1960, with trial set for June 30, 1960.

On that date, in Suffolk Superior Court before Judge Lewis Goldberg, Detectives Edward J. Walsh, Thomas E. Connolly, and Daniel E. Donahue appeared against Louis Mattos and Paul Downs on the following offenses:

Armed robbery of the Looney Liquor Store, 778 Adams street, Dorchester, on June 8, 1960.

Armed robbery of the James Liquor Store, 137 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, on June 10, 1960.

Unlawfully carrying a firearm, a .38 caliber revolver, on the above dates.

Judge Goldberg continued their cases to September, 1960, and bail for each was set at $10,000.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty and the outstanding police work displayed by Detectives Walsh, Connolly, and Donahue in this case which resulted in the clearance, within a comparatively short period of time, two liquor store holdups.

In recognition of the exceptional police duty performed by these officers, it is hereby ordered that Detective Second-Grade Thomas E. Connolly be promoted to Detective First-Grade, and Detective Third-Grade Daniel E. Donahue be promoted to Detective Second-Grade, effective Wednesday, July 6, 1960, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.

Testing Machinery—Additional Data

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On May 4, 1960, your Honor authorized the award of contract to H. G. Graft Company, 10 High street, Boston, in the sum of $2,403.86, for furnishing, delivering, and installing two Rockwell hardness testers, Model 3JR (Item 7), and one Brinell hardness tester, Model 1 (Item 10), in the new Boston Technical High School.

It has come to my attention that the proposal submitted by H. G. Graft Company was not in full compliance with the machine's specifications upon which the bids were publicly invited in the City Record, in that the equipment listed in the proposal was suitable for performing the functions specified but did not meet the specifications insofar as relates to Item 7 (Rockwell 3JR) of the proposal. Therefore Item 7 should have been rejected, and so I am requesting your Honor to rescind your approval of the award.

In lieu of entering into a contract with H. G. Graft Company covering the machines, and subject to your Honor's prior written approval thereof, I now propose to issue two orders, one to Stanley P. Rockwell Company, Hartford, Connecticut, in the sum of $1,460.65 for Item 7, two Rockwell hardness testers, Model 3JR, and the other to H. G. Graft Company in the sum of $1,020 for Item 10, one Brinell hardness tester Model 1.

These two firms were the only bidders on Item 7, and H. G. Graft Company was the only bidder on Item 10.

Respectfully yours,
CHARLES A. CALLANAN,
Superintendent of Construction.

Meter Parts

DEAR MR. MAYOR:
This office is in receipt of several requisitions from the Water Division of the Public Works Department for meter parts for three types of water meters. Informal requests for prices were solicited from the manufacturers of these meters for which parts have been requested and prices have been received from said manufacturers.

Inasmuch as the meter parts requested are available only from the respective manufacturers, it is my opinion that no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for prices. Authority is therefore requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award contracts, without public advertisement, to the following companies and at the amounts specified:

Hersey-Sparling Meter Company, $29,960.50, less 42 per cent, net, 30 days; Rockwell Manufacturing Company, $6,443.43, f.o.b. Uniontown, Pennsylvania, net, 30 days; Gamon Meter, Division Worthington Corporation, $3,628.67, f.o.b. Newark, New Jersey, net, 30 days.

Respectfully yours,

MICHAEL A. DESIMONE,
Purchasing Agent.

Map Folder Printing

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition from your office for 184,000 City of Boston maps. Buck Printing Company, which has printed similar folders previously, has submitted an informal written quotation.

Inasmuch as this company has the plates on hand and will make all necessary revisions, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Buck Printing Company. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $10,000, net.

Respectfully yours,

MICHAEL A. DESIMONE,
Purchasing Agent.

Perishable Foods

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In accordance with the letter approved by your Honor on February 11, 1960, authority is hereby requested to award a contract, without public advertisement, to the following-named company for furnishing perishable foods, etc., to the various city departments from July 1, 1960, to March 31, 1961, inclusive:

William Wolfe, Maurice Lipkin, William Sohn, a partnership, doing business as Commercial Beef Company, 124 Newmarket square, Boston, Mass.

Respectfully yours,

MICHAEL A. DESIMONE,
Purchasing Agent.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

Concerts

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

It is my intention to arrange by formal written contract for the furnishing of music for public enjoyment on Boston Common and at Jamaica Pond and Franklin Park, on certain dates in the months of July and August. After due deliberation, it has been decided, subject to the prior approval of your Honor, to award a formal written contract to Herman Silberman, an accomplished member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra for sixteen years, in the amount of, but not to exceed, $4,439 for providing a series of two-hour concerts on the dates and at the sites and hours designated below:

Parkman Bandstand.

Boston Common: July 12, 13, 14, 15, 16—
12 noon to 2 P.M. July 4, 10, 17, 24, 31—
8 P.M. to 10 P.M.

Jamaica Pond Bandstand.

Jamaica Plain: July 4, 20, and August 3—
8 P.M. to 10 P.M.

Franklin Park Bandstand.

Dorchester: July 13, 27—8 P.M. to 10 P.M.
These concerts will be given by orchestras, consisting, as the contract will specify, of from 19 to 21 musicians, exclusive of the leader.

In view of the fact that securing the particular type and quality of service involved in performing one of the higher forms of art, as in the case with music, is not such as would necessarily be assured through the customary procedure of publicly advertising for proposals, your authorization is requested for permission to dispense with advertising in the award of the subject contract.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN H. O'NEILL, JR.,
Administrative Assistant.

Fireworks

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On May 14, 1960, proposals were invited in the City Record for furnishing, setting up, and firing a fireworks display at various locations in the City of Boston. The Interstate Fireworks Manufacturing and Display Company, Inc., bid in the amount of $7,610.25 was the only bid filed, the same being publicly opened and read on May 31, 1960. Since the aforementioned sum was in excess of the funds available for the July 4 fireworks, I rejected the bid.

The bidder was then requested to submit an alternate proposal, informally, for providing another type of fireworks display at each of the five advertised locations, which he agreed to do. On June 14, 1960, I received the new bid from the contractor in the sum of $6,000, to produce and set off fireworks displays, differing to a degree in kind and scope from those which were advertised but which, I am assured and feel confident, will be inspiring, colorful, and entertaining Independence Day celebrations.

Therefore, I propose, subject to your Honor's authorization therefor, to accept this latter bid, to dispense with public advertising, and to award a contract to Interstate Fireworks Manufacturing and Display Company, Inc., in a sum not to exceed $6,000, to provide, erect, and fire off—all as will be provided in the contract—a fireworks display on July 4, 1960, at the following five (5) sites:

Columbus Park, South Boston; Franklin Field, Dorchester; Smith Field, Brighton; White Stadium, East Boston; Jamaica Pond, Jamaica Plain.

It is the opinion of the undersigned, in view of the foregoing circumstances, that public advertising would not serve any public purpose. Furthermore, it is to be noted that the subject firm is most efficient, uses competent operators, carries all the appropriate insurances, and has always performed its services very satisfactorily.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN H. O'NEILL, JR.,
Administrative Assistant.

TRANSIT TIP FROM PHILA.

Officials of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut municipalities received a hint from a Philadelphia official on how to go about getting better commuter railroad service at reduced fares. He said increase in the number of trains and a fare cut have wooed back to railroads many Philadelphia riders who had deserted them for the family car.

JUDGE BARRON PRAISES ROLE OF WOMEN IN GOVERNMENT CITES CHALLENGES CONFRONTING AMERICA

Massachusetts Superior Court Justice Jennie Loitman Barron spoke as follows at Independence Day Exercises at Faneuil Hall on July 4:

FREEDOM FOR ALL
FOURTH OF JULY ORATION, 1960 by

Jennie Loitman Barron, Justice, Massachusetts Superior Court

Your Honor, Mr. Chairman, Distinguished Guests and Fellow Citizens —

We gather here in Faneuil Hall, the Cradle of Liberty, to commemorate the signing of the Declaration of Independence 184 years ago today.

It is a great honor to be the speaker at such a significant occasion, and to join the distinguished citizens who have appeared here annually for several generations. It is an inspiration to read their names, symbolic of liberty and justice. Amongst them are noted statesmen, educators, churchmen and judges: John Quincy Adams, Charles W. Eliot, Daniel L. Marsh, William Cardinal O'Connell, Richard J. Cardinal Cushing, Rev. John J. Horton, Henry Cabot Lodge, Horace Mann, Edward Everett Hale, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Lemuel Shaw and Louis D. Brandeis. It is a particularly rare honor that Mayor Collins bestowed upon me, a woman, only the third woman of 177 speakers, and the first woman speaker born and brought up in Boston. I thank you, Mayor Collins, for this tribute to me and to my sex.

I have spoken from the platform of Faneuil Hall on several occasions, at meetings marking the celebration of victories in war and peace, and at protest meetings against persecutions, but at no time have I been as touched as I am today. In memory I see, through the pages of my history school book, a little boy standing at the door of the hall where Congress was discussing the Declaration of Independence. His grandfather is standing near the bell waiting for word of the adoption of the Declaration. I hear the stirring words of the boy shouting, "Ring, Grandpa, Ring—Oh ring for Liberty"—and Freedom and Equality for all were proclaimed throughout the 13 colonies. The immortal Declaration of Independence was born. Today through inspiration, faith, vision, sacrifice and work, the principle of Freedom for All has been established in the 50 States of our great nation. Freedom is our heritage. The major purpose of our Government is to make it possible for all people to enjoy freedom and to strengthen and preserve our "inalienable rights"—Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.

Freedom which touches the human heart and soul, as well as the mind, has been written about extensively. It has been a favorite subject of poets, musicians and artists in their creative work. Before preparing this address, I thought of how much there was to read with the vast amount of history and literature available. It seemed like a herculean task and one which would result in much repetition. Then there came to me the advice to the young poet. He was told when he wished to write an immortal song "Look into your own heart and write." So, in planning this oration, I looked into my own heart and I speak as an American, giving you my personal experiences as a woman, as a Jewess and as a Judge.

It appears appropriate for a woman speaker to discuss the effect of the Declaration of Independence upon women. Hope soared in their hearts as they heard the enunciation of its principles of equality for all men, not a particular class or sect, but all men.

This did not mean that they were equal in mental ability or had the same physical characteristics, but that they were all entitled to equality of opportunity and equality of privilege. It meant that all men are equal before the law.

The Declaration of Independence further asserted that "All men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." It was assumed that "men" was used in the generic sense, including all mankind—which means women as well as men. But in spite of the proclamation of the principles of freedom enunciated in the Declaration of Independence, one half of the population of the nation, namely women, were not equal to men before the law. Women were denied equal opportunity with men to develop their inherent capacities, and their freedoms were largely curtailed.

Abigail Adams wrote to John Adams in 1776 when he was attending the Continental Congress, "If particular care and attention are not paid to the ladies we are determined to foment a rebellion and will not hold ourselves bound to obey any laws in which we have no vote or representation."

This was almost the first gun fired in a campaign for Women's Freedom.

Liberty and freedom were mere oratorical words to women in 1776. Women, whether married or not, were classed with infants and insane persons and denied the right to vote. They could not hold public office, they had no share in law-making, jury duty was barred to them.

On marriage a woman lost her legal identity for various business functions; such property as she may have brought with her into marriage became her husband's, subject to his management and control.

Wife and husband were one and the husband was the one. A wife became the property of her husband and except in Fire Fighter Parks performed this work on June 28, 1960, while off duty, in a skindiving suit—his own personal property. He started at 8 A.M., on June 28, 1960, and completed the work at 4 P.M., being under water most of the time.

During the four-alarm fire on June 27, the mooring lines of the freighter, "Chalomar," were cut to free it from a burning pier. The lines dropped into the water and caught around the propeller shaft of fireboat, Engine 47, disabling the vessel.

Fire Fighter Parks' invaluable aid greatly shortened the length of time that Engine 47 would have been out of service, and saved a considerable expenditure of money by the City of Boston.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

July 7.

General Order No. 746.

The following reassignment is hereby ordered to take effect Friday, July 8, 1960, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.:

Patrolman Andrew T. Dailey, from Division 7 to Division 2.

July 8.

General Order No. 747.

The resignation of Patrolman Cornelius P. Connelly, Jr., Division 4, having been presented, it is hereby accepted to take effect Monday, July 11, 1960, at 7.45 o'clock A.M., seven days' notice waived.

July 12.

General Order No. 748.

Patrolmen John A. Tricomi, Jr., and Robert E. Rice of Division 7 are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 3 P.M., Tuesday, July 5, 1960, Patrolmen Tricomi and Rice, assigned to the 700 cruising wagon, while in the vicinity of Brooks and Saratoga streets, East Boston, observed a group of boys acting in a suspicious manner. The officers stopped, questioned, and subsequently searched each member of this group and on the person of one Robert J. Italiano, 18 years, single, of 59 Saratoga street, East Boston, they found a .22 caliber, 7-shot, Defender revolver. Robert Italiano was arrested without a warrant by the above officers for violation of the Firearm Law, General Laws, chapter 269, section 10, to wit, carrying a firearm on his person without being licensed so to do.

Robert Italiano was brought to Division 7 where he was interrogated by officers of the division. He stated that Monday evening, July 4, 1960, he attended a party at 40 Everard avenue in the Beachmont section of Revere and while the party was in progress, he stole the Defender revolver. Italiano further stated that one Robert J. Kinder, 18 years, single, of 393 Meridian street, East Boston, and one John McGrane, 16 years, single, of 211 Princeton street, East Boston, who had attended the party with him, had stolen about $75 in U.S. currency and a quantity of jewelry from the apartment at 40 Everard avenue, Revere. As a result of this information Kinder and McGrane were brought to the station and after interrogation, they admitted stealing the money and jewelry.

The Revere Police Department was notified and Detective-Sergeant Hurley and Detective Anzalone responded and the two subjects, Kinder and McGrane, were delivered into their custody for prosecution in the Chelsea District Court. Italiano was placed in a cell to await prosecution in the East Boston District Court.

In the morning of July 6, 1960, Detectives Donahue and Waters with Patrolmen Tricomi and Rice prosecuted, on warrants, in the East Boston District Court, before Judge Augustus Loschi, one Robert J. Italiano for violation of the Firearm Law, to wit, unlawful possession of a firearm. The case was continued to July 15, 1960, and Italiano was ordered held in $1,000 surety.

Further investigation revealed that Italiano has a past criminal record for having violated the Harmful Drug Act, in that he did unlawfully use and possess certain harmful drugs in Chelsea, Mass., on May 28, 1960. Italiano is on probation until June 8, 1961, as a result of this offense. He was also arrested on May 5, 1960, in East Boston for carrying a dangerous weapon, a switch knife with a 5-inch blade.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness and devotion to duty displayed by Patrolmen Tricomi and Rice in this case which brought about the clearance of a crime committed in another community and prevented a possible crime within this jurisdiction by the removal of a firearm from the person of the subject involved, one Robert Italiano.

July 12.

General Order No. 749.

The following reassignment is hereby ordered to take effect Wednesday, July 13, 1960, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.:

Patrolman Daniel V. Connors, from Division 9 to Division 15.

Judge Barron . . .

Massachusetts he could beat her. There was, however, one stipulation, the stick must be no bigger than his thumb, so it behooved every bride to examine the size of the thumb of her prospective husband. At the marriage ceremony the groom would state with love and devotion "With all my worldly goods, I thee endow" and he promptly became the possessor of everything she owned. The wife could not sue nor be sued. The husband regardless of his qualifications was the sole guardian of their children.

Women were not admitted to higher schools of learning nor could they practice a profession; nor were they permitted, even in the great movement of anti-slavery, to speak from a public platform. Their freedom to belong to an organization was restricted almost to a seamstress society or a book club. There was no freedom for women to select the type of work they desired.

A perusal of the denial of the many freedoms to women indicated that the great immortal truths of the Declaration of Independence were, as far as women were concerned, theoretical ideas only and needed to be translated into reality.

Women, as human beings, were also created equal, and were also entitled by their Creator with the same inalienable rights as men.

Mr. Justice Frankfurter of the United States Supreme Court in a speech about Thomas Jefferson well stated that "The significance of the Declaration of Independence does not lie in the ideas which it expressed, but in their realization and their continuing ferment." He (Jefferson) made abstract notions about freedom a dominating faith and thereby the dynamic element in the strivings of man.

The ideas expressed in the Declaration of Independence began to "ferment", as stated above, for women as well as for men. Some years thereafter a bloodless battle for their "realization" was begun by liberal men and women who banded together in the Women's Rights movement. Their goal was to work for the educational opportunities and legal and political equality for women. The Women's Rights movement took its place among the great social struggles of the 19th and 20th centuries. Among the leaders were William Lloyd Garrison and Wendell Phillips.

Side by side with men, women leaders organized, wrote, spoke and lobbied in legislative halls to remove their grievances. Carrie Chapman Catt sounded the clarion call to all. "We must replenish the fires of human freedom." They went to the Declaration of Independence for their authority when they claimed for women the great liberties that men had achieved. A small number of heroic pioneers brought about a change in the fundamentals of American life. They appealed to the sense of justice of American men to make democracy complete and men responded.

The First Women's Rights Convention took place in Seneca Falls, New York, in July of 1848. The period of 1840 to 1940 was called the Women's Century. The long hard battle to achieve equality continued until the 19th Amendment giving women the right to vote throughout the nation was ratified on August 6, 1920.

I had the great privilege as a young girl at college and thereafter to participate in this battle for equal rights for women. Accompanied by the great immortal pioneers amongst whom were Carrie Chapman Catt, Maude Wood Park, Alice Stone Blackwell, Anna Howard Shaw, in Boston, New York, and throughout New England, I brought my plea for votes for women. I spoke from soapboxes at corners of streets, and from open automobiles, at times dodging such missiles as stale eggs and overripe tomatoes, hurled by alcoholic listeners. I brought my message at noontime to factory meetings and spoke at theatres during intermissions between the acts, by special permission of liberal managers. I marched in suffrage parades, organized and became president of the first equal suffrage college association at Boston University.

The "ferment" worked because of the hard work of liberal men and women who brought a "realization" of the ideas of the Declaration of Independence for women as well as men. We, the women of today, are the successors of those courageous trail blazers of history, those heroic pioneers who fought and won and opened the doors of freedom to the women of our generation.

I am the living exhibit of the recipient of the freedoms which had been denied to women and were extended to them during my lifetime or shortly before.

1. I have the right to vote. This fundamental freedom was not granted to women until 1920.

2. I became a member of the American Bar Association at their invitation. Women were not admitted until 1918.

3. Even though I am a female, I speak at the gracious invitation of Mayor Collins from a public platform in Faneuil Hall to a mixed audience.

4. I combine the duties of homemaker, wife, and mother with a career. Women were not permitted to practice law until the latter part of the 19th century. Only seven trades were open to them. At present I believe they take their place in every trade and profession, except, as has been said facetiously, that of prize fighter and telephone lineman.

5. I am equal guardian, with my husband, of my children.

6. I have held public elective office in Boston.

7. I hold public office as a Judge, through appointment.

8. As a Judge, I preside over trials with women on the Jury.

For more than twenty years I worked to obtain jury service for women in Massachusetts, appealing to the Legislature annually as the representative of the League of Women Voters. When the jury service bill for women was passed about ten years ago, I was presented with one of the quills which was used to sign the bill.

In all the days of history, no century brought to men so many rights—so much freedom—as the 100 years from 1840 to 1940 has brought to women. It was not a peaceful period. One hundred and twenty-eight wars between nations were fought within the century. Yet, in the Women's Campaign, no blood was shed, no lives were lost, as women, aided by men, took collective action to remedy their grievances.

Today there were over twenty-two million women workers, of whom one-half are married. They hold one-third of the nation's jobs. They are one-third of the college students. They hold important posts in the business and industrial world. Three hundred and forty-seven women sit in the State Legislatures of our nation; seventeen are in the U. S. Congress. In Massachusetts, we have three women in the Senate and five women in the House.

Running a home and rearing a family is the most important and gratifying call upon women, but it is essential that she also fulfill her role as a citizen. Numerous women have accepted the double challenge and have given outstanding service to the nation. Today, women of voting age outnumber men by nearly five million. How important this is in the year of a Presidential Election. Women are the key factors in any election, not only through casting their ballots, but in getting out the vote and arousing the citizenry from their indifference and alerting them to active participation. With women equal to men under the law, our government is a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

The granting of freedoms to women had a beneficial effect on the nation.

"As unto the bow the cord is,
So unto man is woman.
Though she bends him,
Yet she obeys him,
Though she leads him
Yet she follows —
Useless each without the other."

As I stand on the platform in the Cradle of Liberty, and freedom which was promulgated by the Declaration of Independence has particular significance to me, not only as a woman, but as a Jewess, whose parents fled to America from Czaristic Russia to escape persecution, and who came here in search of freedom.

I think of some of the lines written by Emma Lazarus inscribed on the base of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free. Send them, tempest-tossed, to me. I lift my lamp beside the Golden Door."

So many times my parents told me and my sisters, as little children, how they came to America in the steerage of a slow sailing vessel, physically impoverished from their furtive flight and from the oppression of Russia. How their hearts leaped with hope when they first caught sight of the Statue of Liberty which welcomed them to America as free persons. With joyous tears they thanked God for his Divine Providence for bringing them to the Land of Liberty.

This was a haven for many races who had been oppressed in their native lands. To the Jews, America which promulgated freedom for all was not only their salvation, it was the answer to all their prayers. For more than 2,000 years they had been physically persecuted, socially ostracized, restricted in employment, barred from education, forbidden to practice their religion. They had been tortured in the Russian Massacres and in the fires of the Spanish Inquisition. Six million Jews had been exterminated in the gas chambers and in devious barbaric manner by Nazi tyranny. But here in America, the Jews, the Irish, the Poles, the Italians, are free—as free as those who came over in the Mayflower. Here all races had the right to liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Do you understand then why, today, commemorating the birthday of Freedom, I am very deeply touched. As I stand here, my heart is stirred through memory. I hear again the glowing tributes to free America from the men and women from the ages of 17 to 65, of more than 24 nationalities, refugees, whom I taught in Americanization classes for five years in the public evening schools. I hear again the voices of my beloved departed parents saying, "America is a golden land of freedom. Here in America, you, my children, even if you are girls, will become educated. You need not hide in the loft of the barn to read a book, like your mother did in Russia. In America, you can speak freely, you need not be afraid."

There was inculcated in my heart and in the hearts of my three sisters, all born in Boston, not only a reverence and loyalty to America, but a deep love. My parents, having suffered so deeply, did not take America for granted. It was the land which recognized them as human beings. Here they walked unafraid. The prophecies of my parents as to the meaning of freedom were true. Their children, even if they were girls, became doctors and lawyers, married, have families and are trying to repay America for her gift of freedom to our parents and to us.

We learned that in America it made no difference where your cradle, or your mother's cradle was rocked, in Russia, Italy, Ireland or the Mayflower.

All citizens were equal. The exultation of living a free man's life was inspiring and productive of service to blessed America.

The spark of freedom upon the Jews was planted in their hearts centuries ago—when the Old Testament was written and when Moses received the Ten Commandments on Mt. Sinai. The hope of freedom sustained the Jews during their slavery in Egypt, it inspired them to wander for forty years to the Promised Land where each man was to have human dignity, where he could worship God as he wished, where social justice would prevail.

The Bible, the Code of Ethics and the religious tenets of the Jew, had as its fundamental philosophy Freedom and Equal Justice for All under God. The Jewish prophets, sages and scribes had preached and written for generations about the equality of all men and their God-given right of Freedom. So it is not surprising to learn that our Puritan fathers, creating and building our nation, took as the foundations the democratic cornerstone and precepts of "freedom for all" from the Jews. The Puritans accepted and openly acknowledged their indebtedness to the Jewish tradition. The inscription on the Liberty Bell came from the Old Testament "And ye shall proclaim Liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof" (Leviticus). William Lecky, the great British historian said, "Hebraic mortar cemented the foundations of American democracy." It is, therefore, easy to understand why America, which means so very much to all races, had a very particular significance to the Jew. His deep passion for human freedom, personal dignity and social justice was the backbone of his religion.

The same hunger for liberty was not only in the heart of the Jew, but in the heart of the Irish, the Italian, the Quaker, the Hungarian, the Negro, the Greek and other races which were oppressed, and were seeking freedom and progress.

More than thirty-nine million immigrants came to America between 1820 and the present time. Each race and each religion made a valuable contribution to the building of America through their labor, through their gifts of mind, through their culture, and above all, through their spirit and faith in God.

Today all are Americans, and we pay our grateful tribute to Thomas Jefferson and the founding fathers for their vision, their courage and their self-sacrifice, and the Anglo-Saxon tradition.

In order to safeguard the heritage of freedom which was given to us, we must always remember that our government is a government of laws, and not of men. This vital principle is especially important today when Nations rule by force, and dictators are on the march.

The President of the United States has set aside May 1 as Law Day in the Nation. In his Proclamation, he declares that "the rule of Law is the Keystone of Peace and order in our National and International life." Our Freedoms are meaningless unless there is law to protect them. The purpose of the law is to protect the rights of the individual, his person, his property, not only from injustices committed by other persons but also against abuses of government.

There must be laws to enforce equality, so that no particular person or group receives special privileges to the detriment of others, or to the enhancement of his rights above others. Rights of one person cannot interfere with the rights of other individuals. As has been said in common parlance, "Your right to swing your arm ends where the other person's nose begins."

Nor can the rights of one person interfere with the welfare of the people as a whole.

"The true administration of justice is the firmest pillar of good government." The courts have been established as an independent branch of our government to help insure our freedoms.

I am deeply touched and humble because of the rare privilege I have and have had as a judge for almost twenty-three years, to help preserve our freedom, our most precious heritage.

Judge Harold R. Medina said, "We must not confuse freedom with unbridled license." Such confusion, lack of respect for authority and law, is presenting a grave challenge to our Nation today through increase in crime.

In order to preserve our liberties we must start with our domestic problems. The home is the most important institution in our country. The startling rise of juvenile delinquency, especially in crimes of violence, has alerted us to a coordination of all our forces for preparedness of parents in bringing up children. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. It is better to build a fence at the top of a precipice than to place an ambulance at the bottom.

Adults must set a proper pattern for behavior. Behavior is caught, not taught. Adult crime, moral turpitude, quiz frauds, payola, bribery and other violations of law inculcate the young with a scorn for the rights of others, with the negation of the principle of equality for all, proclaimed by our Founding Fathers.

Unless we have respect for authority, a government of laws, not of men, the basic truths of the Declaration of Independence are mere words only enunciating great principles, but theoretical only and barren in fulfillment.

There are great challenges confronting us in the decade beginning in 1960, as there were in 1776—when the Liberty Bell pealed forth its clarion notes of Freedom for All. The most important of all is Peace. Without Peace we cannot enjoy the blessings of Liberty. An assured Peace will only come if all the people want it enough to work and sacrifice for it.

The dramatic world events of the last years—the race for nuclear power, the launching of satellites and rockets in outer space, the subtle threats by hostile nations of the use of atom and H bombs and deadliest weapons—alert us to the dangers confronting the existence of civilization.

Russia and its satellites and Red China, with their devastating philosophy of communism would not only completely destroy the Freedoms proclaimed on July 4, 1776—of Equality for all—but threaten complete annihilation.

The failure of the Summit Conference, brought on by the deliberate action of Krushchev, the proclaimed leader of the Soviet Union, the extensive and dangerous riots in Japan, the unrest and turmoil in Cuba, in Okinawa, in Korea and other parts of the world, the planned firing in Quemoy—especially at a time when the President of the United States was seeking to bring offerings of good will from the United States—are dire warnings of impending assaults on that Freedom of Peoples which was proclaimed on Independence Day, July 4, 1776.

We received a precious heritage on July 4, 1776, through the Declaration of Independence. Let us preserve our heritage by assuming the responsibilities and duties of American citizenship as well as enjoying the privileges of liberty and freedom. Let us, in return for the blessings of freedom which we and our children have received, give our fullest measure of devotion to our beloved America.

Let me close with some of the inspired and stirring words spoken by Rabbi Roland Gittelsohn, now Rabbi of Temple Israel, Boston, at the Dedication of the Cemetery at Iwo Jima at the end of the Second World War.

"We dedicate ourselves, first, to live together in peace the way they fought and are buried in this war. Here lie men who loved America because their ancestors generations ago helped in her founding, and other men who loved her with equal passion because they themselves or their own fathers escaped from oppression to her blessed shores. Here lie officers and men, Negroes and whites, rich men and poor... together. Here are Protestants, Catholics, and Jews... together. Here no man prefers another because of his faith or despises him because of his color. Here there are no quotas of how many from each group are admitted or allowed. Among these men there is no discrimination. No prejudices. No hatred. Theirs is the highest and purest democracy.

"To this, then, as our solemn, sacred duty, do we the living now dedicate ourselves; to the right of Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, of white men and Negroes alike, to enjoy the democracy for which all of them have here paid the price."

MAYOR COLLINS CITES PERILS OF COMMUNISM BUT PREDICTS AMERICA AND FREE WORLD WILL PREVAIL

Following are the remarks of his Honor, Mayor John F. Collins of Boston, at a reception and dinner honoring the King and Queen of Thailand at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel, Boston:

Your Majesties, Governor and Mrs. Furcolo, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is an honor and pleasure to welcome the King and Queen of Thailand to the City of Boston. It is particularly fitting that we honor the King here tonight, for Boston, as you may know, was the city in which his mother and father met — and Cambridge, just a mile away — was the birthplace of the King.

Although your stay in our city will be brief, I want you to know that our official family stands ready to serve you and do all it can to make your visit both enjoyable and memorable.

We have a great admiration and respect for your country. Thailand, the land of the free, is a shining symbol of strength and encouragement to all of us, your friends in the free world. As the King told our Congress in Washington last week, "The time is ripe for closer cooperation between the United States and Thailand because of present world tension." You may be sure, Your Majesty, that every Bostonian joins you in that thought and hope.

Many changes have occurred in world history since the King was born here in 1927. Nations have been born — some have flourished, others have perished. Dictators have come, have ruled, and have returned to the dust of eternity.

Looking back over the last 32 years we are amazed at the decline of nations which were world powers, but which have been gobbled up in the onward rush of Communism. But Thailand, our friend, our ally, continues to stand strong and mightily wave the banner of free men and the free world in Southeast Asia.

Just how difficult this must be becomes clear when we consider Thailand's geographic position in the world. Thailand is bordered by Communist China, Laos, Cambodia, Burma, and Malaya. Thailand, like our own country, does not recognize Red China. We are confident that Thailand will forever remain free.

In no city in America does the lamp of liberty, of justice, of freedom burn more brightly than it does here in Boston. The reflection of this lamp burns just as fiercely in Bangkok, the capital city of Thailand.

The faith of a nation is its people. The citizens of both our countries have faith. When faith in the right is strong and unwavering — all the legions of the devil himself, of the Communists, cannot puncture or defeat that faith.

Faith is man's greatest weapon and his greatest defense. We thank our God that the United States and Thailand have faith in abundance and our two nations will survive and flourish just as those nations who deny the existence of a Supreme Being will perish.

BUILDING OFFICIALS CONFERENCE OF AMERICA, INC.

HON. JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Re: Building Officials Conference of America, Inc., Forty-fifth Annual Conference, May 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 1960, held at the Eden Roc Hotel, Miami Beach, Florida.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I left my home by taxi for Logan Airport at 9 A.M., and boarded Flight 637, Eastern Air Lines, to Miami. I arrived at destination at 3.30 P.M., and taxied to Eden Roc Hotel. After registering for the convention, I attended the president's reception which was followed by dinner at the Steak Place in Miami.

On Monday, May 23, at General Assembly (Ladies and Gentlemen), at 9.30 A.M., we were addressed by S. Logan McConnell, who is the Building Commissioner of New Orleans, Louisiana.

The invocation was by Rev. Msgr. William Barry, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Miami Beach, Florida.

We sang the national anthem of the United States and of the Dominion of Canada.

The Chairman, Mr. O. M. Pushkin, Chief Building Inspector, Miami Beach, Florida, was introduced by President S. Logan McConnell. Mr. Pushkin extended the hospitality of the city to the delegation and introduced Hon. Harold B. Spaet, Councilman and former Vice-Mayor of the City of Miami Beach, Florida, who then gave the welcoming address to the Forty-fifth Annual Conference.

President S. Logan McConnell dedicated the conference to Arthur Rutherford, former Building Commissioner of Hartford, Connecticut; a former Past President of BOCA, and also introduced prominent guests to the members.

We had a report of the Executive Committee by the Executive Secretary, Paul E. Baseler. The following committees were appointed by the Chairman: Nominating Committee, Resolutions Committee, and the Conference Committee.

We were addressed by Wilson McGee, Esq., former Assistant City Attorney and Prosecutor, Miami Beach, Florida, who called to the attention of the conference some of the common pitfalls and errors in building code enforcement.

The next speaker was Alfred Oboler, P. E., Consulting Engineer, who discussed the problems of house framing in areas where hurricanes are prevalent; wind bracing and the anchoring of the roof and walls with rods extending in most cases to the foundation, to make the building act as a single unit.

Recess for lunch.

The final session was devoted to the problems of building departments in cities over 35,000 population and a panel for those cities under 35,000. Panel "A" of cities over 35,000 consisted of the Moderator, Mr. J. J. Ilgenfritz, Director, Department of Licenses and Inspections, Washington, D. C.; Wesley J. Farrington, Commissioner, Department of Buildings, White Plains, New York; Barnet Lieberman, Commissioner, Department of Licenses and Inspections, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; J. Wallace McDonald, Superintendent of Buildings, Lynn, Massachusetts; and Coveley Putnam, Superintendent, Division of Building Inspection, Dayton, Ohio. I attended Panel "A".

Of interest to me was a remark made by Barnet Lieberman, when he stated that in Philadelphia the city expends money to rehabilitate old buildings which have an historical background. These are then sold with the proviso that the purchaser will keep the building in repair and in conformity with the original design. This might be worth while for the City of Boston, at least as a talking point, to sound out reactions.

For the rest of the panel discussion, it was evident that we all have pretty near the same problems with old buildings and blight. I would say after listening to the other delegates that the City of Boston with its demolition program and police power for removing structures is perhaps as efficient as any other city.

The next day we had a breakfast session and Vice-President Alfred H. Schroeder, City Architect, St. Paul, Minnesota, presided over an informal question and answer discussion.

The panel members consisted of U. J. Little, Director, Building Department, Jackson, Mississippi, as moderator; A. Charles Mueller, Building Inspector, Borough of Whitehall, Pennsylvania; and William H. Poneleit, Building Inspector, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Mr. Schroeder stated that in St. Paul, Minnesota, when the federal government wanted to erect a building, the city of St. Paul asked for a permit and the federal officials said that they did not have to get one. The case went to the Minnesota Supreme Court which ruled for the city of St. Paul.

Mr. Barnet Lieberman had a similar case in Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court upheld the city of Philadelphia. This should be of interest to us in Boston with our "Authorities" and state and federal governments.

There was a meeting of the Code Changes Committee which took up the rest of the morning session. There were several discussions at the afternoon sessions. Mr. Edwin C. Bliss, P. E., Consulting Engineer, Miami Beach, Florida, and Jack E. Janney, Partner, Engineers Collaborative, Chicago, Illinois, both expressed many opinions about prestressed concrete and how important plant inspections are in order to get good results in prestressed concrete.

At this time the Nominating Committee made its report and nominated Mr. Schroeder and Mr. Saltzman for First Vice-President which made a contest for this office. The rest of the offices were unopposed.

The rest of the afternoon was spent inspecting various industrial exhibits, after which we went to the Garden Bar-B-Que.

Wednesday morning there were two panel discussions—one on Hazards of Modern Merchandising Methods and another panel for smaller cities and towns on modernization of their codes.

The afternoon was devoted to the annual business meeting and the reports of the Resolution Committee and the Conference City Committee, also the election of officers. Philadelphia was picked as the convention city in 1961. Mr. Saltzman was elected First Vice-President. We had the annual banquet at 7 P.M., and the invocation was by Rabbi Herschell Saville.

During the Thursday morning session we discussed Building Department Operation which had three concurrent sessions divided as follows: Administrative Practices, Field Inspection Practices, and Enforcement Practices.

The convention was addressed by the President and the Vice-President-elect, and the closing prayer was given by the Rev. Maurice Fain, pastor, Miami Beach Baptist Church, Miami Beach, Florida.

The convention then adjourned.

I departed from Miami at 3.45 P.M., via Eastern Air Lines, and arrived in Boston at 11.30 P.M., and taxied from airport to West Roxbury.

Municipal Accountants and Auditors Convention

JOSEPH P. LALLY, City Auditor,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR:

As delegated by you the undersigned members of the staff of the Auditing Department were in attendance at the meeting of the Massachusetts Municipal Accountants and Auditors Association, which was conducted at the Belmont Hotel, in West Harwich, on June 26, 27, and 28.

At the first of five sessions, held on the morning of June 26, the association was addressed by Herman Dine, Director of Accounts for the Commonwealth, in which he pursued his customary review of legislation enacted to date affecting Municipal Bulletin No. 20, with detailed analysis of those chapters warranting close examination from the point of view of municipal financial administration. Mr. Dine was followed by Thomas Joyce, legal representative for New England Power, who discussed the business outlook for Boston and the Commonwealth. Mr. Edward Wilson, associated with the Department of Corporations and Taxation, read to the meeting a prepared analytical discussion of the workings of Tax Title and Tax Possessions accounts from the state level.

The afternoon session of June 27 featured a talk on group insurance and employees' insurance benefits by William Burke; and a discourse on school reimbursements under the federal program of health, education, and welfare, by John Peters.

The morning session of June 28 was addressed by Robert Capeless, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation, who discussed income tax receipts and distribution and the impact of increased distribution as a result of the payroll withholding tax.

The final business of the association followed the address by Commissioner Capeless, when the report of the nominating committee was accepted and the officers for the coming year were elected. Thomas F. Gulheen, City Auditor of Holyoke, was elected president, and James J. Costello, Town Accountant of Winchester, was elected vice-president.

In our meetings between sessions the undersigned delegates were in mutual agreement that the discussions were topically well chosen, educational in context, and especially interesting and illuminating to those involved with municipal accounting procedures. The meetings were well planned and the selection of speakers contrived to bring before the body enlightening information on the problems encountered in fiscal affairs at the city and town level.

This assembly of city and town financial officials offers a unique opportunity for the exchange of experiences and ideas, and the chance to broaden our acquaintance with fiscal measures and special conditions and problems as they pertain throughout the Commonwealth. We concluded our attendance with a feeling of great satisfaction with the program, and the conviction that meetings of this type present a sure means of keeping abreast of current changes and improvements in municipal fiscal business.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES V. O'BRIEN,
EDWARD F. GRODEN,
EDWARD J. MCGANN,
PAUL H. KEATING.

Massachusetts City Clerks' Association

HON. JOHN F. COLLINS,

DEAR MAYOR COLLINS:

I respectfully submit a report of my attendance at the meeting of the Massachusetts City Clerks' Association held at Chatham Bars Inn, Chatham, Mass., on June 17, 18, and 19, 1960.

Currier, Director of Vital Statistics of the Commonwealth.

Group discussions were held by the members of the association and valuable information and knowledge was obtained by the membership which will be most helpful to the clerks in the performance of their duties.

I am most grateful to your Honor and the Honorable City Council for the privilege of attending this meeting.

Respectfully yours,

WALTER J. MALLOY, City Clerk.

VI. HIGH COMMENDATION.

During the fire at Box 3256, about 12.03 A.M., June 23, 1960, involving an old railroad trestle spanning the Neponset River, a spectator who had ventured out on the trestle in the darkness fell into the river below.

Upon hearing the victim's cries for help, Fire Fighter Robert F. Clements of Engine Company 43 raced back to the nearest piece of apparatus and obtained a life line. Returning to the location where the man had fallen in the water, he found that the man was being carried away by the receding tide, thrashing about beyond the reaching distance of the life line.

Fire Fighter Clements (home address, 19 Howe street, Dorchester), although he was encumbered by the weight of his heavy clothing, including night hitch and rubber boots, dove into the river approximately 20 feet below. With considerable difficulty he managed to reach the drowning man and supported him while he made his way to a point near the riverbank. Here, other members of the company pulled both men to safety. The rescued individual, not wishing to be identified, left the scene so hurriedly that it was impossible to obtain his name.

Because of the fact that Fire Fighter Clements performed this rescue work under extremely hazardous conditions, at great risk and without any thought for his own safety, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

July 19.

General Order No. 753.

Patrolmen John F. Hennessey and James J. Feeney of Division 7 are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 8:30 A.M., Monday, July 11, 1960, Patrolmen Hennessey and Feeney, assigned to the 7-L Radio Sector Car, were dispatched to the American Architectural Steel Company, 115 Liverpool street, East Boston, where they received a report from the owner, Edward Sisson, that some unknown person or persons had entered his shop over the weekend and had stolen drafting tools and equipment. The break and entry had taken place through a roof skylight of the building occupied by the American Architectural Steel Company.

Patrolmen Hennessey and Feeney, during the investigation, recalled having seen one Francis Vitale, 16 years, of 17 Maverick street, East Boston, and one Joseph Rose, 16 years, of 17 Wallace street, Somerville, in the general vicinity on Sunday, July 10. On that date, because they remembered that these subjects, Vitale and Rose, had past records, these officers tried the doors and windows of the business establishments in the area and found them secure.

On July 11, Vitale and Rose were brought to Division 7 where both were questioned and both denied having broken into the American Architectural Steel Company. The officers then brought to the station Edward Hunter, 17 years, 1 Maverick street, East Boston, a parolee from Lyman School, and Richard Breault, 17 years, 1 Maverick street, East Boston, who is on probation from the East Boston District Court for breaking and entering, both of whom are friends of Vitale and Rose. Intensive questioning and investigation revealed that the suspects had broken into the following business establishments on Division 7:

1. Wigglesworth Machine Company, 60 Border street, East Boston, where they admitted climbing a fence, breaking a small window in the rear, and stealing a Polaroid Land Camera valued at $124. This offense took place on June 19, 1960.

2. Standard Box Spring Company, 215 Bremen street, East Boston, where they entered by climbing a freight car in the rear and through an open window. An electric drill was taken, as was money from a Coke machine. This took place on June 12, 1960.

3. The Boston Marine Company, 33 Sumner street, East Boston, was entered by climbing a roof and forcing a skylight. Here they removed a camera, three fifths of Canadian Club whisky, and $11 in U. S. currency, on June 9, 1960.

4. The Liverpool Lumber Company, 120 Liverpool street, East Boston, where they entered by climbing a 10-foot fence and forcing a lumbershed door. Nothing was taken. This occurred on June 8, 1960.

5. The Edmund Burke Company, 120 Border street, East Boston, where they entered by breaking a panel in a rear door. An electric shaver, make unknown, was taken. This happened on June 19, 1960.

In a continuing investigation, the officers learned that the Polaroid Land Camera had been given to one Anthony DePalo, 18 years, of 17 Maverick street, East Boston, who sold the camera to one Enrico LaFratta, 34 years, of 66 Otis street, Somerville. DePalo and LaFratta were arrested by Patrolmen Hennessey and Feeney as receivers of stolen goods.

Detective Donahue and Patrolmen Hennessey and Feeney prosecuted Joseph Rose, Francis Vitale, Edward Hunter, and Richard Breault in the East Boston District Court in the morning of July 12, 1960, for breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny from the business establishments heretofore mentioned. The cases were continued to July 19, 1960, and the defendants were ordered held in $500 surety. Anthony DePalo and Enrico LaFratta were prosecuted for receiving stolen goods. Their cases were continued to July 19, 1960, and each was held in $500 surety.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness and keen observation displayed by Patrolmen John F. Hennessey and James J. Feeney in this case, which resulted in clearing a number of breaks and larcenies in the East Boston district and removing from circulation individuals who would have continued in their life of crime.

FIN. COM. ANALYZES 1960 TAX RATE

To the Honorable the Mayor.

Analysis of the 1960 Boston tax rate provides food for thought on Boston's financial present and future.

The fact that not only were the brakes applied to the City's soaring tax rate, but actually the momentum was thrown into reverse, is reason for congratulations.

It was a break in the gathering storm of financial crisis hovering over the City. Unmistakable clouds on the horizon, however, indicate that further storms of difficulty may be in the making.

Factors in the Picture

Several factors will make the job of holding down the tax rate increasingly difficult.

1. The impact of abatements will again be sharp, as the Funding Loan Act of 1957 has run out of existence. That act provided for abatements in excess of Overlay Reserves to the tune of $25,058,809. It wiped out the net operating deficit of December 31, 1956, of $16,182,540. Furthermore, it looms large as part of the reason for Boston's December 31, 1959, surplus of $8,368,413. In addition, Boston, for the second successive year, had no short-term debt outstanding.

In a word, the City must return to the practice of appropriating to cover Overlay Deficits. These are the deficits resulting when the amount appropriated in the tax levy to meet abatements is not enough. For 1960, the amount is $308,713.47 on Overlay Deficits for the levy year 1957 (the Funding Loan covered the year of 1956 and prior). By May 3, 1960, the balance of Overlay Deficits of 1957 and prior years totaled $643,015.23. This amounts to saying that already, with only five months gone, as of May 31, 1960, approximately 44 cents has been added to the City's 1961 tax rate.

In the absence of a Funding Loan or other cushion, Overlay Deficits must be appropriated in the next succeeding year. Some idea of the size of the impending abatement burden which generates Overlay Deficits may be gleaned from the fact that there were 11,406 Boston cases outstanding before the Massachusetts Appellate Tax Board on June 30, 1960.

2. Not only will the City be faced with tax losses through abatements, but also through the taking of property for:

(a) The proposed Inner Belt Highway. The Finance Commission supported a bill last year which would recognize, through a form of reimbursement to the City, the tax losses sustained by the City in the construction of expressways. Such highways, it was pointed out, are a metropolitan benefit and not a city benefit.

(b) Demolition for purposes of urban redevelopment and renewal. In the theory of urban redevelopment and renewal, the City will eventually be more than rewarded for the tax losses sustained through demolition incident to the redevelopment and renewal projects. A long wait, however, must be endured by the City before such an eventuality materializes.

A subsequent table and paragraphs will demonstrate how the City is holding the line on controllable costs while being unable to move against certain fixed costs. The only conclusion to be drawn from all these considerations is that, notwithstanding the most heroic efforts in economy, the City's financial salvation must lie in new sources of revenue and the equitable readjustment of fixed costs.

The imperative necessity for new sources of revenue to rescue Boston from this heavy dependence on the property tax suggests a review of the various sources of revenue enjoyed by other large cities in the country.

Boston has for some years now held the unenviable position of having the highest tax rate of any of the large cities of the country. Undeservedly so, because the largest part of Boston's taxable revenue comes from Real Estate Taxes while other communities both large and small derive no small part of their income from Nonproperty Taxes in addition to Real Estate Taxes.

Boston's extraordinary dependence on the property tax is indicated in the following table of per cent of revenue derived from the property tax by various cities. Only one city among the larger cities of the country (over 500,000 population) depends to the same extent as Boston on the property tax as a source of revenue.

During the month of June, 1960, the department collected $6,462, which represents refunds by former beneficiaries of veterans' benefits who were found to have drawn aid under circumstances which warranted its return to the City of Boston.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

July 21.

General Order No. 754.

Detectives Edward J. Walsh, Joseph G. Cunningham, James W. Moar, Francis D. Powers, and John V. Nee of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Special Service Squad, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

As a result of the increase in armed robberies in the City of Boston and surrounding cities in the Greater Boston area, Detectives Walsh, Cunningham, Moar, Powers, and Nee conducted an intensive investigation and interrogation of numerous witnesses regarding these armed robberies.

The aforementioned detectives were positive that one Francis T. Bolduc, 22 years, an escapee from the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole, Mass., on December 7, 1959, and John J. Maslauskas, 30 years, married, of 106 Heath street, Jamaica Plain, and Thomas J. O'Keefe, 30 years, single, of 111 Central street, Peabody, Mass., the latter two parolees from the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole, Mass., were the men responsible for the numerous armed robberies. These detectives worked from Friday, July 8, 1960, throughout the day and night, endeavoring to locate the above-named criminals.

On July 11, 1960, the First National Store at 336 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, and the First National Store at 634 Adams street, Dorchester, were held up and robbed of $1,150 by two men. Detectives Cunningham and Nee went to the two locations and interviewed witnesses who positively identified the photograph of Thomas J. O'Keefe as one of the participants in these holdups.

As a result, Detectives Cunningham and Nee went to the Dorchester District Court and secured two warrants charging Thomas J. O'Keefe with the armed robberies of both First National Stores at 336 Bowdoin street and 634 Adams street, Dorchester.

Stakeouts in various parts of the city where Bolduc, O'Keefe, and Maslauskas were known to frequent were maintained by Detectives Nee, Cunningham, and Powers which continued through their off-duty hours, and by Detectives Walsh and Moar who, although on their scheduled vacation time, continued their investigation of this case.

On July 13, 1960, about 11.30 A.M., through various sources of information, these detectives kept under surveillance Apartment 1 at 1145 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, which they learned had been rented by Maslauskas for Bolduc. It was determined at this time that the three dangerous and heavily-armed criminals were "holed up" at this address. Detective Walsh called the Central Complaint Room at Police Headquarters requesting two police cruising cars be dispatched from Division 11 to that address and cautioning them not to use their sirens to avoid attracting attention. Upon arrival of these cars, the officers were deployed around the building as a security measure and for the protection of any citizens in the vicinity in the event of gunplay.

Detectives Walsh, Cunningham, and Nee, employing the element of surprise, crashed through smashing the front door open and at the same moment, Detectives Moar and Powers entered the rear of the apartment by climbing through two windows in the kitchen. At the very moment of entrance by Detectives Walsh, Cunningham, and Nee, one of the criminals, Francis Bolduc, attempted to draw a .32 caliber fully-loaded F & W 5-shot revolver from his belt, but when Detective Cunningham with his revolver ready hollered, "Try it, Frankie, and I'll kill you," Bolduc raised his hands and surrendered. Detectives Walsh and Nee covered Thomas O'Keefe and ordered him to surrender, but O'Keefe attempted to draw from his belt a .22 caliber "Unique" French automatic revolver, fully loaded with nine rounds, and was quickly subdued by these detectives. The third criminal, John Maslauskas, surrendered to Detectives Moar and Powers as these officers entered the building through the kitchen windows.

A search of the apartment was made and another firearm, a .32 caliber fully-loaded German "Walther" automatic and over 250 benzedrine tablets, known as "Bennies" were found in the bureau drawer.

The three prisoners were brought to Police Headquarters where they were booked, fingerprinted, and photographed and upon intensive interrogation, they admitted to the following crimes in Boston:

FRANCIS T. BOLDUC.

1. On Saturday, January 30, 1960, breaking and entering in the nighttime, the First National Store, 2825 Washington street, Roxbury. Bolduc secreted himself in the store until the manager, Francis Magrath, arrived to open the store in the morning, at which time Bolduc forced him to open the safe and as the manager attempted to grapple with him, Bolduc fired two shots at him. Bolduc then struck Magrath over the head with his revolver and fled with $1,500 in U. S. currency and checks.

2. On July 1, 1960, Bolduc and Maslauskas held up and robbed three employees at the Leonard Pharmacy, 302A Centre street, Roxbury.

3. On July 8, 1960, Bolduc, Maslauskas, and O'Keefe went to the Toll Gate Cafe, 3880 Washington street, Jamaica Plain, and held up and robbed twelve patrons and a bartender, at which time Bolduc fired a shot at the bartender and said, "We mean business." They stole $634 in U. S. currency in this robbery.

4. On July 11, 1960, Bolduc and O'Keefe held up and robbed the First ¶ Expenditures for Public Assistance during the month of June, 1960, amounted to $3,006,639. This was an increase of $13,518 over the cost of the program the previous month. Regular assistance grants made directly to clients showed a decrease of $57,710 while payments for medical care increased $71,228. There were two major factors responsible for the drop in direct payments: (1) the discontinuance of the fuel allowance for the summer months and (2) a decrease from 26,197 to 26,058 in the number of cases receiving assistance, a difference of 139.

¶ Old Age Assistance: The downward trend continued in this category with 204 applications approved and 276 cases closed. This brought the caseload to 15,839 as of the end of the month. There were 5,868 cases affected by budget changes due to fuel adjustments. Although direct payments decreased by $50,237, the medical costs increased by $41,524. Expenditures for this category totaled $1,667,354.

¶ Aid to Dependent Children: There were 124 applications approved and the same number of cases closed resulting in no change in the total caseload for this category. Although this category is composed of family groups, only one half of the caseload received budget adjustments due to fuel changes. Almost one third of the families live in public housing and others live in the homes of relatives, in which instances no fuel adjustments were necessary. Total expenditures for this type of assistance came to $743,000, a decrease of $21,865 compared to May, 1960.

¶ Disability Assistance: For the first time, payments for medical care exceeded direct grants to clients. This is the reason for an increase of $15,162 in the cost of the program over that of the previous month. There were 826 cases in which fuel budget changes were effected. Applications approved amounted to 120 and 145 cases were closed, a drop of 25 cases, leaving a caseload of 3,239.

¶ General Relief: Public Assistance grants for this category were $164,175, an increase of $28,934. Since this category is paid on a weekly basis, the increase represents a month in which there were 5 payrolls. Actually, the caseload decreased 17 cases with 466 approvals and 483 closings. Procurement of employment remains as the primary reason for closing cases.

National Store, 336 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, stealing $300 in U.S. currency from Manager Thomas Tracy and the milkman, Lawrence DeLory, forcing them down into the cellar, whereupon O'Keefe pistol-whipped DeLory into unconsciousness.

5. On July 11, 1960, Bolduc and O'Keefe held up and robbed the First National Store, 634 Adams street, Dorchester, stealing $500 in U. S. currency from Manager Ronald MacDonald and the clerk, Phillip McEntree.

6. On July 4, 1960, Bolduc and Maslauskas held up and robbed the Warren Drug Store, 354 Atlantic avenue, Boston, stealing $1,237.07 from Manager Abraham Bohn, and customers Sidney Schlossberg, Ira Hamison, and James Welch. Maslauskas pistol-whipped Abraham Bohn twice, necessitating hospital treatment.

THOMAS J. O'KEEFE.

1. On July 8, 1960, O'Keefe, accompanied by Bolduc and Maslauskas, held up and robbed the Toll Gate Cafe, 3880 Washington street, Jamaica Plain.

2. On July 11, 1960, O'Keefe with Bolduc held up and robbed the First National Store, 336 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, and admitted to the assault on the milkman, Lawrence DeLory, with his revolver.

3. On July 11, 1960, O'Keefe with Bolduc held up and robbed the First National Store, 634 Adams street, Dorchester, stealing $500 in U. S. currency from Manager Ronald MacDonald and the clerk, Phillip McEntree.

the Toll Gate Cafe, 3880 Washington street, Jamaica Plain, stealing $634 in U. S. currency from twelve patrons and a bartender who was fired at by Bolduc.

Pharmacy, 302A Centre street, Roxbury. Witness, Martin Stein, identified Maslauskas as one of the men who held him up.

3. On July 4, 1960, Maslauskas and Bolduc held up and robbed the Warren Drug Store, 354 Atlantic avenue, Boston, stealing $1,237.07 from Manager Abraham Bohn and customers, Schloss-

The three firearms used in these hold-ups were recovered and $419 in U. S. currency taken from the person of all three criminals.

On July 15, 1960, Bolduc, O'Keefe, and Maslauskas were arraigned in Dorchester District Court before Judge William G. Lynch on charge of armed robberies committed within the jurisdiction of the Dorchester Court. The prisoners waived examination and were ordered held in bail of $50,000, double surety, for the Suffolk County grand jury in the first week of August, 1960. Additional presentments will be made to the Suffolk County grand jury at that time for crimes committed on various divisions throughout the City of Boston.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the meritorious work, without regard to extra hours of duty, performed by these detectives in this case, which resulted in the apprehension of an escapee from the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole, Mass., since December of 1959, and two parolees from that same institution, thereby reflecting credit not only on themselves, but on every member of the Boston Police Department.

In recognition of the exceptional and outstanding police duty performed in this case, it is hereby ordered that Detectives Second Grade Joseph G. Cunningham, James W. Moar, Francis D. Powers, and John V. Nee be promoted to first grade detectives, effective forthwith.

Analysis of Components

The three principal areas which enter the calculation of the tax rate are: (1) Appropriations, (2) Revenues and Credits, and (3) Valuation of Real and Personal Property.

The following paragraphs present a comment on the items in these areas in the order in which the items appear in the foregoing two-year comparison.

APPROPRIATIONSCITY

General Maintenance. This is the figure which covers the cost of departmental operations, the so-called "budget" figure. The fact that this figure shows a decrease of $1,807,445 over the appropriation of 1959, notwithstanding increasing costs and high departmental estimates of need, has been widely and justly acclaimed.

DEBT

The only influence that can be exerted by a Mayor on Debt Service would come in the issuance of new debt or the paying off before the due date of outstanding debt.

The amount of Debt Service in any year is largely the figure that has been set up in advance in the Funded Debt Payable schedule. This is a schedule of yearly payments over the life of the outstanding debt. Any change in this schedule is brought about by the issuance of new debt, paying off debt when due, or the paying off before the due date of any debt outstanding.

The debt falling due in 1960 was $2,111,976 below the amount which fell due in 1959. By itself, this accounted for a reduction of $1.44 on the 1960 tax rate.

PENSIONS SYSTEMS

The increasing importance of this item, as a factor in the tax rate, has been widely discussed. An aspect which has not been noted widely is the growing element of Veterans' pensions. The importance of this element derives from the fact that the latter are entitled to the refunding of their contribution in addition to a pension. In 1959, some 318 persons retired (City, Schools, and County); of these close to 30 per cent were Veterans.

COUNTY

General Maintenance. In 1960 appropriations show a decrease of $26,675 over 1959. The significant aspect of this item is that the Mayor's allowance cut down the County departmental budget requests by approximately the same percentage as City departmental budget requests were reduced.

SCHOOLS

General Maintenance. An important and growing phenomenon in this item is the School Excess Appropriation amount which the Mayor and Council are called upon to add to the School Committee's statutory appropriation limit. The statute sets a limit on School Committee appropriating power. When that limit, plus unexpended balances and revenue from other sources, has been reached, the School Committee must look to the Mayor and Council for supplementary financial assistance. This School Excess Appropriation practice started in 1952 with an amount of $2,204,976 and, except for a slight dip in 1953, has risen steadily to the record amount in the 1960 appropriation of $9,619,027.

The unique characteristic of the appropriation for the operation and maintenance of the schools is that the eventual appropriation has for several years been the resultant of considerable pulling and hauling between the Mayor and the School Committee. The appropriation for General Maintenance (operation of schools) was reduced by $495,538. The appropriation for the maintenance of School Buildings was reduced by $508,881. On the other hand, the Excess Appropriation increased by $1,239,075. The net result of all this is an increase in 1960 of $234,656 for operating and maintaining the school system. This is apart from the Debt Service.

Reducing the appropriation for Alterations and Repairs of School Buildings by approximately 25 per cent over 1959 focuses attention on the question of maintenance of School Buildings (and other public buildings) and of deciding at what point reducing appropriations for this purpose becomes uneconomical in the long run. It is axiomatic that deferred essential maintenance becomes increasingly costly.

DEBT SERVICE.

The Debt Service for Schools increased $249,118 over 1959. New debt issued in 1959 for construction of School Buildings totaled $1,500,000, plus another $1,000,000 for the remodeling and reconstruction of the Roxbury Memorial High School, as the City's School Building program moves along.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COMMISSION.

Maintenance Assessments. There was an increase in this item of $204,035 in 1960 reflecting the ever-rising Metropolitan District Commission assessments. This did not show the full cost, however, because section 5 of chapter 318 of 1960 permits the spreading over a period of five years ". . . of the increase in the assessment, or any part thereof, over the amount assessed in such city or town for the metropolitan sewerage district . . .". Thus, this provision has deferred for 1960 costs which would reflect another 20 cents, approximately, in Boston's tax rate.

Boston's helplessness in the face of the imposition of ever-rising Metropolitan District Commission's costs has been the misfortune of the City for years. To provide some semblance of a voice, even by indirection, the Finance Commission supported a legislative bill heard by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs early in 1960 which provided for the establishment of an advisory council of the M.D.C. and thus provide a vehicle of expression for the several communities affected by the operation of the M.D.C. The bill was eventually incorporated in a Resolve for a study.

METROPOLITAN TRANSIT AUTHORITY.

Operating Deficits. Few subjects of local financial import have been discussed as widely as this item. (The Finance Commission first discussed the inequity of the M.T.A. deficit assessment a dozen years ago.) The full impact of this sizeable expense, however, is not generally appreciated.

There is an increase in 1960 of $1,867,183 in this item. This, by itself, means an additional $1.28 in Boston's tax rate. Actually, Boston's share of the 1959 M.T.A. operating deficit, which is $12,027,366 accounts for $8.21 of the City's 1960 tax rate. This represents 8.15 per cent of Boston's tax rate.

OVERLAY DEFICITS.

The foregoing two-year comparison table shows a figure of $308,713 for 1960 against Overlay Deficits, but no appropriation figure for 1959 is given. The 1960 figure is to cover Overlay Deficits incurred on the 1957 levy.

Now that time has run out on the 1957 Funding Loan Act, Boston under the law must appropriate in the next succeeding year for any further Overlay Deficits incurred for the levy year 1956 and prior. The 1957 levy year was not included in the Funding Loan Act and any Overlay Deficits incurred for 1957 levy year would have had to be appropriated even if the 1957 Funding Loan Act was still in operation. The existence of the Funding Loan Act accounts for the fact that there is no figure of appropriation for Overlay Deficits in 1959 in the table.

Revenue and Credits CITY.

General (Departmental Receipts). This is a decrease of $435,867 over 1959. This and the County item appear to be conservatively estimated, a reaction, no doubt, to the deficits in estimated receipts of 1959. In the case of the City, the deficit was $346,374; for the County, it was $5,818.

SCHOOLS, INCOME AND BALANCES.

This item is the estimate of expected School Income in 1960 from two sources:

- (1) Unexpended balances of 1959; and
- (2) Revenue from nontax sources (such as tuition, etc.). The 1960 item represents a decrease of $243,115 over the previous year. The unexpended 1959

INCOME TAX.

This figure is supplied by the State Commissioner of Taxation in the so-called Cherry Sheet. There is a decrease in this item for 1960 of $379,592.

The reported expected substantial increase in the State-collected Income Tax would at first glance make it appear that Boston's share for 1960, as expressed in the State's Cherry Sheet estimate, is surprisingly small. But this estimate is explained by the fact that a huge segment of the State collection is creamed off before the money is distributed to the municipalities. The creaming-off process is for pur-

BOSTON WELCOMES ITS NEW HEALTH COMMISSIONER

The Boston Health Department wishes to welcome and introduce its new administrator, Dr. F. Robert Freckleton, who took office as Health Commissioner on July 15. Dr. Freckleton comes to Boston with an impressive record of experience in public health both in this country and abroad. Born in New York City, he received his medical degree from Tulane University in 1944. Following graduate work at Columbia University leading to a Master of Public Health degree, Dr. Freckleton engaged in county public health work in New York State. Entering the United States Public Health Service, his first assignment was to the Navaho Indian Reservation where he spent two years as director of field health services. As part of the International Cooperation Administration Program, Dr. Freckleton next spent two years in Indonesia. As a result of this duty, his two young sons, now 7½ and 11½, have the advantage of being able to speak a bit of Malay. Returning to this country 3½ years ago, he became the regional general health consultant for the United States Public Health Service with headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri, from which post he came to Boston. A long, pleasant, and beneficial relationship is anticipated.

poses of School Buildings assistance and related educational aids which particularly have benefited the small communities at Boston's expense. Until this inequitable situation is corrected, the impact of substantial State-collected Income Tax becomes greatly watered down by the time the distribution reaches Boston.

Nevertheless, there is reason to believe that State-wide collections will be so substantial in 1960, that Boston may wind up the year with an amount of free cash (surplus) that could be applied to hold down the tax rate in 1961.

CORPORATION EXCISE TAX.

This figure, too, is supplied to the Assessor in the Cherry Sheet. The increase of $1,109,744 over 1959 is much more in line with the actual Corporation Taxes received by the City in 1959, $6,491,295.

Valuation of Real and Personal Property

The increase in this item of $2,956,100 represents a saving of approximately 20 cents in the 1960 tax rate. The effect of the Equalization Survey and new construction were responsible for this reversal of the downward trend of recent years in the City's tax base.

The following table presents the ward-by-ward real property valuations for 1959 and 1960, as well as those for 1950 and 1930. (The location of each ward is listed in a subsequent table).

The 1950 valuations are also given to indicate the valuation changes that have taken place during the decade just closed, a period of drastic change in terms of public works and urban redevelopment and renewal.

To indicate the long-term trend, valuations are also given for 1930, the year which saw the highest valuation figure in the City's history, and a year that marked the end of one economic period and the beginning of another.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Repairs

DEAR SIR:

Your Honor's permission is hereby requested to dispense with public advertising for bids and to award an emergency contract for the repair of the quarters of Engine Company 48 and Ladder Company 28, located at 30 Winthrop street, Hyde Park.

This is an extremely old building, and the condition of the wood flooring has now developed into a serious condition. Mr. Edward Morgan of the Building Department accompanied the writer to these quarters and immediately ordered the floor to be repaired or the building vacated.

It is the opinion of all concerned that the flooring will not hold up until such time as an architect could be retained, plans drawn, and bids requested and awarded.

The building cannot be vacated as it is absolutely essential to protect the life and property of the residents of the Hyde Park area.

The following bids have been received: Peter Veneto & Sons, Inc., 140 Shirley street, Roxbury, $6,200; Joseph J. Kintis, 105 Corey street, West Roxbury, $6,675; March Construction Company, 1065 Tremont street, $6,930.

With your Honor's permission, a contract for doing the foregoing work will be awarded to the lowest bidder, Peter Veneto & Sons, Inc., for a sum not to exceed $6,200.

This work will not admit of delay.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY A. SCAGNOLI,
Fire Commissioner.

COUNCIL WEIGHS "GHOST" LANDLORD ACT

Chapter 355 of the Acts of 1960, entitled: "An Act Requiring Owners of Certain Lands in the City of Boston to Keep Certain Information on File with the Building Commissioner of Said City," was presented for acceptance to the City Council, on August 1, by Mayor John F. Collins.

This legislation, introduced and supported by the Mayor's South End Neighborhood Conservation and Rehabilitation Committee, would require all owners of dwelling houses who do not reside on the premises to file their names and addresses with the Building Department. In the case of ownership by a corporation the names and addresses of the president, clerk, and treasurer, must be filed with the city. Violations of the act are subject to fine of up to $100 on each conviction.

In order to take effect, however, the act must be accepted by the City Council.

In his communication urging acceptance Mayor Collins stated as follows:

¶ The safety of occupants and dwelling units as well as the safety of the general public often demands that the Building Commissioner contact the owner of a dwelling unit immediately. If that owner has a place of abode or of business on the premises, there is generally little difficulty in finding him; but if he does not, much valuable time may be lost in locating him. This is particularly true of straws or "ghost" owners of run-down tenement houses.

¶ In an endeavor to rout out these "ghost" owners of slum properties the General Court, at its current session, enacted Chapter 355 of the Acts of 1960, entitled: "An Act Requiring Owners of Certain Lands in the City of Boston to Keep Certain Information on File with the Building Commissioner of Said City." This act, however, is to take effect only "upon its acceptance by the City Council of the City of Boston subject to the provisions of its charter."

¶ Transmitted herewith is a communication sent me by the Building Commissioner recommending acceptance of this act which, you will note, he regards as beneficial. As a matter of fact, this act should prove beneficial not only to the Building Commissioner but also to many other municipal officials as well as to the public in general. Accordingly, I submit herewith, and recommend your early adoption of an order for the acceptance of this act.

Following is the text of the act:

¶ Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

¶ SECTION 1. On and after July first in the current year, whoever owns land in the city of Boston upon which there is a building used in whole or in part for dwelling purposes, unless he has an usual place of abode or of business on such land, shall keep on file with the building commissioner of said city, and open to public inspection, a certificate reciting (1) his name, residence and place of business, with the street and number, if any, or in the case of a corporation, the corporate name and place of business and the names and residences of the president, treasurer and clerk thereof, and (2) a description, by street and number or otherwise, of the location of the land owned. Within five days after any recital in such certificate changes, whoever then owns such land shall file a new certificate. A mortgagee shall not be deemed to own land within the meaning of this act until he takes possession or forecloses. Whoever violates any provision of this act shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

¶ SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon its acceptance by the city council of the city of Boston, subject to the provisions of its charter.

Approved May 2, 1960.

Building Commissioner Robert E. York stated his views on the measure simply: "I regard the act as beneficial and recommend its acceptance."

FIN. COM. SAYS FEDERAL RENEWAL LAW MAY ALLOW HALF A MILLION IN NON-CASH GRANTS

To the Honorable the Mayor.

The Finance Commission believes that huge sums may be made available to the City, perhaps as much as one-half million dollars or more, in the form of non-cash grants-in-aid if the possibilities of a relatively new section of the Federal Urban Renewal law are explored.

This means dollars in the City's pocket. Making non-cash grants-in-aid available to the City simply means that the City will be saved that amount of money when paying for its share of the cost of urban renewal projects.

There is hope that this may be accomplished by relating the provisions of Section 112 of Title 1 of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, to the New York Streets Redevelopment project.

Section 112 of Title 1 of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, provides that municipalities may receive grants-in-aid for expenditures made by educational institutions in the acquisition of land, buildings, structures to be redeveloped or rehabilitated, demolition and relocation of tenants. All these undertakings must be for educational uses and located within or near an urban renewal project.

University Expansion

Recent attention focused on the plan of development of the Harvard University Medical facilities has obscured the fact of expansion of facilities related to the Tufts Medical School in the Harrison Avenue area of the City.

For example, in September, 1959, the building at 118-134 Harrison avenue, adjacent to the Tufts Medical School, was acquired for "rehabilitation" for educational purposes at a cost of approximately one quarter of a million dollars, as indicated by federal deed stamps. Besides this, an acre of land and buildings (over forty thousand square feet) has been progressively acquired since 1952 for educational and research purposes under the same auspices in the area of Oak, Tyler, Harvard streets, and Harrison avenue. In addition there have been expenditures for demolition of property as defined in Section 112.

The importance of these expenditures for Boston lies in the fact that Section 112 appears to make them convertible to a non-cash credit, to be applied to the City's share of cost in urban renewal projects.

In a word, the Commission feels that a good case can be made out for applying the provision of Section 112 to these University expenditures and relating the same to the New York Streets Redevelopment project. If this interpretation is correct, the City would stand to gain approximately $500,000 or more in non-cash grants-in-aid.

Any such grant-in-aid received by this method would be applicable to the New York Streets project on which "final federal capital grant payment" has not been made. Also, the federal statement of policy states: "Credits for colleges' and universities' expenditures are pooled in the same way as other non-cash local grants-in-aid in the local public agency Title 1 program." This means that credits earned by one Renewal project, if not used, in their entirety, are transferable to other existing or future projects.

Finance Commission's Position

The proposal that the expenditures for the expansion of University facilities in this area be related to the New York Streets project within the framework of Section 112 is based on the apparent conformity of such proposal with the following essentials of the federal regulations:

1. The expenditures by the University are eligible educational expenditures.

2. Such expenditures were made within five years prior to the date of authorization by the Federal Agency (Housing and Home Finance Agency) of a contract for "loan or capital grant" for the

July 27.

General Order No. 756.

The Boston Retirement Board having approved the same, the following-named police officers are retired from active duty under the provisions of the State-Boston Retirement System, effective at the close of business Sunday, July 31, 1960:

Patrolman John J. Cullity, Division 18.
Patrolman Francis V. Nugent, Traffic Division.

August 1.

General Order No. 757.

The following citations from statutes and ordinances, relative to the littering of our public ways with rubbish and refuse, are published for the attention and necessary action of members of this department.

Division commanders will instruct all officers under their command, especially officers assigned to street patrol duty, to strictly enforce the provisions of these anti-litter laws in a program of steady, persistent police activity.

All members of this department will cooperate to the fullest extent with all other city departments in a united effort to clean up the streets of our city.

ORDINANCES OF 1956, CHAPTER 4. PROVIDING AGAINST THE LITTERING OF STREETS.

Chapter 40 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947 is hereby amended by striking out section 39 and inserting in place thereof the following six sections:

SECTION 39. No person in any public way, public alley or other public place under the charge of the commissioner of public works shall, whether in or upon a vehicle or on foot, deposit, drop or throw upon such way, alley or place or any roadway or walk thereof, and suffer to remain there, any filth, rubbish or other substance unless it is deposited, dropped or thrown into a receptacle provided for the purpose by the public works department.

SECTION 39A. No driver of any vehicle upon any public way, public alley or other public place under the charge of the commissioner of public works shall permit to drop or fall from such vehicle onto such way, alley or place or any roadway or walk thereof, and suffer to remain there, any substance except in the maintenance or repair of such way, alley or place.

SECTION 39B. No person shall sweep, throw or otherwise remove into any public way, public alley or other public place under the charge of the commissioner of public works, or into any roadway or walk of any of them, from any building or structure or from any land not constituting a part of such way, alley or place, any filth, rubbish or other substance and suffer the same to remain

New York Streets Urban Renewal project.

3. The property acquired lies within the immediate vicinity of the renewal project area. The federal statement of policy on this point reads: "In the immediate vicinity of the project," . . . means "within one quarter of a mile of one boundary of the project."

4. Another requirement is that the property "be retained for redevelopment or rehabilitation (within a reasonable time) by the educational institution for educational uses . . . in accordance with an approved development plan by such institution."

A consultant's plan of development of the New England Medical Center area, made within the past five years, included provision for University expansion. However, if this should prove to be inadequate for the purposes of Section 112 of the Federal Housing Act, the University should be called upon to produce a plan of development which meets the requirements of this section.

Section 112 requires that such a plan of University development be submitted to the "local governing body." The City Council has already expressed its interest in the problems arising out of the expansion of educational facilities in a resolution voted on June 13, 1960, in which the Council "calls upon those institutions of higher education operating tax-exempt real estate in the City of Boston to form themselves into an organization for the purpose of coordinating their activities, particularly with respect to expansion of their holdings of real estate with the City's redevelopment program."

Proposal Worth Exploring

The Finance Commission realizes that Section 112 is a new and untried regulation, that is implementation has not been undertaken by local redevelopment agencies. There are no precedents to follow. The Finance Commission believes, however, that the particular angle of application represented by this proposal holds promise. Certainly, this avenue should be explored.

There is a strong reason for this proposal by the Finance Commission at this time. The New York Streets Area project may be closed out at any time.

In a word, the Finance Commission believes that nothing is to be lost and a great deal may be gained in the form of hundreds of thousands of dollars in credits to the City if the Boston Redevelopment Authority would press the proposal outlined in this report.

It is imperative that immediate action be taken to prevent a possible loss of a substantial amount of non-cash credits.

Respectfully submitted,

Chairman,

OUTBREAK IN RHODE ISLAND SPURS CITY-WIDE POLIO CLINICS HERE NO CASES IN BOSTON TO DATE

Boston's precautionary program against a polio outbreak was stepped up during the past week.

Dr. F. Robert Freckleton, City Health Commissioner, announced the establishment of vaccine inoculation clinics at six public housing projects.

The free clinics were ordered by Mayor Collins after Dr. Freckleton reported that 20 of Rhode Island's first 74 polio cases occurred in a single housing project.

No cases have been reported to date in Boston, but the commissioner said the precautionary steps are being taken because many persons in public housing developments are inadequately protected against the disease.

Free inoculations will be given to all residents of the projects by Health Department doctors.

Projects, dates and hours of the clinics are:

Columbia Point, August 10, 6 to 8 P.M.; Faneuil, Brighton, August 12, 6 to 8 P.M.; Mission Hill and Mission Hill Extension, Roxbury, August 12, 10.30 A.M.; Orient Heights, East Boston, August 10, 10.30 A.M. to noon, and Commonwealth, Brighton, August 10, 6 to 8 P.M.

Inoculation Committee Meets

Dr. Freckleton, Boston's Health Commissioner, on July 25, met with the Polio Inoculation Committee to discuss the current polio situation and to lay plans for a stepped-up inoculation program. The committee which sponsored the low-cost clinics held over the past two years, represents on its membership official, voluntary, and business agencies. Present at the meeting were: Dr. John H. Cauley, Committee Chairman and former Boston Health Commissioner; William Dowling, Mrs. Frank Lyons, Miss Cronin representing Raymond G. Paten, and Mrs. William Arthur Reilly of the Suffolk County Chapter of the National Foundation;

James Connelly, Mrs. Arthur S. Hotch, and Walker Larsen of the State Office of the National Foundation; Alice M. Dempsey of the Visiting Nurse Association; Mary Donnelly of the American Red Cross; Anna Skiff of the Medical Foundation; Dr. Randolph Philbrook of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health; George Potter of the Liberty Mutual Life Insurance Company; Dr. James V. Sacchetti and Dr. David Sherman of the Boston City Hospital; Dr. Joseph Lynch and Marie Scanlon of the Boston Welfare Department; Dr. Martin H. Spellman and Marion C. Sullivan of the Boston Public Schools; Dr. F. Robert Freckleton, Boston's Health Commissioner, Katharine E. Fitzgerald, Dr. John T. Foley, Marie F. Gately, Francis Gens, Mary E. Welsh, Leonard Pasciocco, and Mary M. Croke of the Boston Health Department.

Continue Two More Weeks

On Friday, July 29, Dr. Freckleton announced the extension of many of Boston's city-wide free polio inoculation clinics for another two weeks. "Public response is good," said Dr. Freckleton, "but many more people need to be inoculated especially with the presence of polio in a state as nearby as Rhode Island."

Free clinics in Boston had given more than 11,000 inoculations during the previous week, but there still were many people who have not yet had even a single dose, the Health Commissioner stated, adding:

"There is no age limit for inoculation. Polio can strike at any age. There is plenty of vaccine available, but it can do some good only when administered and each person must take the responsibility to obtain the full series of four inoculations for himself and his family."

Polio clinics in Boston for the two weeks of August 1 through August 12 are scheduled in the following places:

Health Department Building, Haymarket square, Boston, Charlestown Health Unit, East Boston Health Unit, Harvard Street Health Unit, Hyde Park Health Unit, North End Health Unit, Savin Street Health Unit, South Boston Health Unit, South End Health Unit, West End Health Unit, Whittier Street Health Unit.

Other clinic locations are: Boston Evening Clinic, Hyde Park Medical Center, Columbia Point Housing Project.

Wash. Park Renewal Gets $143,000 For Planning Phase

Boston's urban renewal program took an optimistic step forward on August 3.

The federal government gave its approval to the tune of $143,000 in planning funds for the 186-acre Washington Park Project in Roxbury—first renewal undertaking of its type in New England.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority announced that preliminary planning on the $4.5 million development will begin before the end of the month.

The project area—which will be revitalized principally through rehabilitation—is bounded by Warren, Dudley, Townsend, and Washington streets. About 20 per cent of the area would be demolished.

The contract signed August 3 for planning funds was between the Authority and the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

SUPREME COURT ANSWERS 11 QUESTIONS ON PRUDENTIAL

Following is an unofficial résumé of the questions asked by the Legislature on the Prudential bill and the answers given by the Supreme Judicial Court in their advisory opinion rendered on August 9:

1. Is it within the competence of the Legislature under the constitution to exempt from taxation, subject to the law, projects to be constructed in blighted open areas, decadent areas, and substandard areas as redefined in the bill?

The answer is "yes," but the court added that the "question is too general to answer without qualification." But, the comment is made, if the question is qualified as containing a proviso that each project is properly found to be for a public purpose, "we answer yes."

2. Will projects for commercial and industrial uses under the law, as amended by the bill, be for public use or purposes?

The court's answer is: "Question 2 is much too broad for a categorical answer. Projects for commercial and industrial uses may be for a public purpose, but each must be found (in accordance with the law as amended by the bill) properly to be for such a purpose. We beg to be excused from further answering question 2."

3. Would the answer to Question 1 be the same for a project in Boston governed by the special provisions for public approval and regulations contained in the bill?

The court's answer is "yes," qualified by the same proviso as suggested in Question 1.

4. Does the provision of the bill transferring to the Boston Redevelopment Authority regulatory functions relative to Urban Redevelopment projects now vested in divers boards and officers, constitute a sufficient and adequate regulation by public authority (under the law)?

The answer is "yes."

5. Does the above transferring constitute an unconstitutional discrimination in favor of projects in Boston as against projects in other communities—in contravention of the constitution?

The answer is "no," with the comment, "the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment does not prevent reasonable classification of subjects of legislation"—nor preclude legislative action providing treatment of problems in one community different from the treatment of those problems in another.

The court said, "Different treatment is justified if the conditions in communities differ sufficiently so as fairly to give rise to the legislative belief that such different treatment is desirable in the public interest . . ."

6. The court found this to be presenting essentially the same question as Question 5, and adds "If Question 6 is intended to present any other issue, it is not apparent to us what that issue is."

7. Can the Legislature authorize cities and towns to contract, as provided in the bill, without mutual consent, a project not to be affected by any subsequent amendment of the law, rules, regulations or standards?

The answer is in the affirmative, with the court pointing out that Question 9 presents the closely related issue of whether such a contract will so bind the state that subsequent amendments, including provision for tax exemption, will not apply.

Considering Questions 7 and 9 together, the court states that "cities and towns, as agencies of the state, may be given, subject to constitutional limitations, such functions and powers, including powers to make contracts, as the Legislature may determine."

Prudential . . .

The answers to both are in the affirmative subject to the court's interpretation of the applying provision in the bill.

8. Whether the Legislature may authorize a city or town to obtain, by contract with an insurance company undertaking a project, an agreement that it will pay annually a specific amount, in addition to the excise prescribed.

The answer is in the affirmative.

10. Whether the Legislature may abolish the Boston Planning Board and transfer its powers and duties and those of the State House board in relation to Boston, to the authority, subject to the approval of the mayor?

The court answers "yes," pointing out that the Constitution gives to the Legislature "full power and authority to erect and constitute municipal or city governments . . . and . . . to grant such powers and privileges as . . . shall be deemed necessary or expedient . . ."

11. Whether the Legislature, under the Constitution, may authorize the authority, subject to the approval of the mayor, to grant permission for deviation from a zoning law?

The answer is "yes," with the comment that the power of the Legislature over the subject of zoning has been said to be supreme.

BOSTON FIRE OFFICIAL ALERTS NATION ON THE SPACE HEATER MENACE

In a detailed report filed in the Mayor's office covering his attendance, recently, at the National Fire Protection Convention in Montreal, Assistant Fire Chief John E. Clougherty had this to say on the dangers of certain types of room space heaters on the market:

"I had the privilege of delivering the third talk of the morning session, my subject being 'Attacking the Space Heater Problem.' Owing to the large number of space heater fires, and the number of deaths as a result of such equipment, occurring in Boston during the past year, as you know we conducted extensive research and investigation as to the cause of such space heater fires.

"The information obtained by these tests proves that along with human failure, there were certain manufacturing defects in these burners which need immediate correction in order to safeguard the use of such equipment. These defects were outlined, and many authorities representing fire underwriters, oil burner manufacturers, and fire chiefs in other parts of the nation were quite surprised at the revelations which were outlined as a result of these tests. There is no doubt in my mind that as a result of exposing so many people who were vitally interested in this subject, to what actually happened in these fires, that corrective measures will be taken by the fire underwriters and burner manufacturers to incorporate safeguards in all future equipment of this type, before placing it on the market for use by the consumer.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

August 3.

General Order No. 760.

Sergt. George A. Bausch and Patrolmen James J. Yates and Edward P.

Kelley, Division 4, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 1:40 A.M., Thursday, July 21, 1960, Sergeant Bausch, Patrol Supervisor, with Patrolmen Yates and Kelley in the 4-R Sector Car, while cruising on Washington street, near Massachusetts avenue, heard a suspicious noise emanating from a block of stores in the vicinity. The officers investigated and observed a man entering the premises of Harvey's Restaurant, 1746 Washington street, from the roof. They immediately surrounded the building with Patrolman Kelley covering the front door, Patrolman Yates the roof, and Sergeant Bausch the rear door.

At this time, Patrolman Kelley observed the man drop from the hole in the ceiling to the floor of the establishment, a distance of about 13 feet. Upon reaching the floor, the man noted an officer at the front door and fled through a rear door which leads into an alley where he was captured at gun point by the above officers.

The criminal was taken to Division 4 where, after interrogation, he identified himself as Francis J. Griffin, 40 years, single, of 40 Upton street, Boston. He was then booked as a suspicious person by reason of breaking and entering a building in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony therein. It was then learned that the prisoner has a long criminal record, including numerous larcenies and breaking and enterings, and has been in and out of jails since he was sixteen years of age.

Further investigation disclosed that the above prisoner had gained access to the roof of the restaurant by climbing a fire escape, breaking a skylight, and cutting a hole in the ceiling through which he entered this establishment. The prisoner stated he had intended to loot the cash register and break open and steal from the cigarette machine, but did not state his intention with regard to the safe in the restaurant in which the owner keeps large sums of money.

On March 1, 1960, between 1 A.M. and 4 A.M., this same restaurant was entered in a similar manner as described above and at that time $401 in currency and property was taken. Although the prisoner, Griffin, denied any connection with this break, the mode of procedure in the two breaks left no doubt that he had committed both crimes.

On Friday, July 22, 1960, Francis J. Griffin was arraigned in Central Municipal Court and charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny in Harvey's Restaurant on March 1, 1960, and with breaking and entering the same restaurant in the nighttime on July 21, 1960, with intent to commit a felony. Judge William Riley, presiding, ordered the defendant held for the grand jury in $5,000.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness and devotion to duty displayed by these officers in this case which resulted in the arrest of a criminal at gun point and through his apprehension, the possible solution of a previous felony on the same premises.

BOSTON TRAILS IN NATION'S UPWARD CRIME TREND

Though far from setting the grim pace in the sharp upward trend of serious crime across the nation, Boston projected itself above the national average of similar size cities in the per cent increase of robberies reported to the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the first half of 1960. Boston's increase was 29 per cent. The national average went up 18 per cent.

While the increase in Boston robberies was the city's blackest mark in the current F.B.I. crime report, the actual number of robberies committed here was, numerically, 18th among all the 140 cities of the United States reported on. It was surpassed by 6 of the 11 cities whose populations range, with Boston's, between 500,000 and 750,000 people, leaving this city somewhere in the middle of the pack.

In the number of larcenies, above the value of $50, Boston showed a 7 per cent decline under the first 6 months of 1959 as compared with an increase of 7 per cent among the 11 similar size United States cities.

Boston has a favorable record in the number of murders and nonnegligent manslaughter cases. These figures showed a 37 per cent decline in the first half of 1960 as compared with a national average decline in the 11 cities of only 5 per cent.

Boston is rated, for crime reporting purposes, with the following cities across the nation: Washington, D. C., St. Louis, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Dallas, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, San Antonio, Seattle, and San Diego.

The crime report issued by J. Edgar Hoover, on August 16, reveals that Boston kept pace with the national per cent increase in cases of aggravated assault and in auto thefts. In cases of forcible rape Boston was 10 per cent behind the national average increase, and 8 per cent behind the other 10 cities with respect to burglary cases, including breaking and entering.

PER CENT CHANGES

Following are totals of Boston's major crime cases for the first 6 months of 1960 and for the same period in 1959, together with the per cent changes, local and national:

Crime Category	Boston Cases 1960	Boston Cases 1959	Boston Per Cent Change	National Per Cent Change*
Murder and Nonnegligent Manslaughter.....	10	16	-37	-5
Forcible Rape.....	49	48	+2	+12
Robbery.....	303	234	+29	+18
Aggravated Assault.....	336	315	+7	+6
Burglary (including breaking and entering).....	1,702	1,678	+1	+9
Larceny over $50.....	990	1,071	-8	+7
Auto Theft.....	1,889	1,834	+3	+3

* Cities between 500,000 and 750,000 population.

In his summary of the nation's crime picture for the first 6 months of 1960, F.B.I. Director Hoover stated as follows:

¶ A 9 per cent increase in all crime categories was recorded for the first 6 months of 1960 over the same 1959 period. This upsurge was led by a 13 per cent increase in robberies which was closely followed by a 12 per cent climb in the number of burglaries. Larceny rose 8 per cent and auto theft 5 per cent. The contributing cities reported 462,396 offenses against property, 40,124 more burglaries, robberies, and thefts than occurred during the same months in 1959. This represents a minimum loss of $134,000,000.

¶ Crimes against the person showed no letup with a 6 per cent increase in murders, 5 per cent rise in forcible rapes and a 4 per cent jump in aggravated assaults. As a whole the trend was consistent for all city population groups; however, cities under 250,000 showed the greatest percentage change.

¶ Geographically, crime increased in all regions of the United States during the first 6 months of this year. For all crimes as a group, increases ranged from 4 per cent in the Northeast to 15 per cent in the West. Breaking the totals down we find the Northeast with a 5 per cent decrease in crimes against the person and a 5 per cent increase in property crimes, smallest of the increases. In the West, crimes against the person and crimes against property increased 19 and 15 per cent, respectively. In between were the North Central and the South with a 4 per cent increase in crimes against the person and 9 per cent for property crimes.

THIS YEAR'S TAX BILL INCLUDES A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Enclosed in the 1960 real estate and personal tax bills the following message was sent out last week to each Boston taxpayer by Mayor John F. Collins:

¶ Our tax rate for 1960 is $100.70 per thousand of valuation, a slight decrease under the 1959 rate and the first decrease since 1954.

¶ It is interesting to note that if we had failed to meet the challenge with which we were faced the first of the year, namely, the inheritance of some $10,000,000 in built-in increases and an additional $13,000,000 in departmental budget requests, an increase of over $15 per thousand of valuation in our 1960 rate would have resulted, thereby placing the actual existence of our city in immediate jeopardy.

¶ To prevent a substantial increase in the 1960 tax rate was a major achievement in itself, but to bring about a slight decrease, in view of a substantial increase in the MTA deficit, a general rise in government costs on every level in addition to the increases heretofore mentioned, is an accomplishment of which I am quite proud. Frankly, it is the result of an earnest and sincere effort on the part of our administration to control expenditures and institute economies, wherever possible, without disrupting or discontinuing essential city services to which you are entitled.

¶ I can visualize many great changes for the better in the not too distant future. The broadening of our tax base and a reversing of our tax rate trend are two of our more important objectives.

¶ In order to lessen your burden and mine, we must find additional sources of revenue. In this connection, we are compelled to look to the Legislature for the relief to which we are entitled. I shall need your continued cooperation to accomplish our many objectives.

¶ If you will bear with me and cooperate as well as you have during the first seven months I have had the privilege of serving you as your Mayor, I am certain that my promise of a busier, bigger, brighter, and better Boston will be fulfilled.

Do Your Share to Keep Your City Clean the Whole Year Round—This type of cooperation contributes to the stabilization and retention of property values, the lowering of tax rates, and a more healthful atmosphere for all.

CONFERENCE REPORTS

Reports are on file in the office of Mayor Collins on two out-of-town conferences attended by city officials in pursuit of their respective fields of activity.

City Clerk Walter J. Malloy reported on his attendance at the Fourteenth Annual Conference of the National Institute of Municipal Clerks, held in St. Paul, Minn., May 16-19, 1960.

John F. McCarthy, Sealer of Weights and Measures, reported on his attendance at the Forty-fifth National Conference on Weights and Measures, sponsored by the National Bureau of Standards, at Washington, D. C., June 6-10, 1960.

Crime Report . . .

¶ Further geographical analysis shows that of the 7 index crimes, burglary emerged as the most widespread problem at the midyear point. Burglars increased their activities in each of the 9 geographic divisions. These unlawful entries of homes and other buildings showed increases ranging from 5 per cent in New England to 24 per cent in the mountain states. But activity in 4 other serious crimes ran burglary a close second. Rapists, armed and strongarm robbers, and thieves specializing in autos and other valuable property stepped up their activity in all areas but one. Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi, and Tennessee, as the East South Central group listed the only decrease in forcible rape. New England had the only decrease in robbery. Thefts of property valued at $50 or more decreased only in the West North Central states (Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota). Auto thefts were up in all divisions except the East South Central. Murders had the greatest percentage increase in the Pacific states while attempted murders and assaults to kill, maim, or seriously injure rose most sharply in the mountain states.

TRAFFIC RULING

The Traffic Commissioner has promulgated the following ruling:

SLIGHT DIP IN JULY WELFARE EXPENDITURES

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department report for July:

¶ Expenditures decreased $51,486, from $3,006,639 in June to $2,955,153 in July. With the exception of Aid to Dependent Children, the program experienced a decrease in Public Assistance grants. Of the 1,132 applications processed, 879 cases were approved while 253 were withdrawn or rejected. Loss of employment, because of either illness or discharge, accounted for more than 60 per cent of the applications approved. There were 865 cases closed with employment and death being the two primary reasons aid was no longer needed. The net result was an increase of 14 cases which brought the caseload to 25,382 as of the end of the month.

¶ Old Age Assistance: This category continued its downward trend though only by a few cases. However, the expenditures showed a drop of $36,495 as compared to the previous month. The monthly expenditure was $1,630,859 of which 53.6 per cent was in the form of direct grants and 46.4 per cent for medical care and related items.

¶ Aid to Dependent Children: Both caseload and costs showed slight increases. There were 118 applications approved and 116 cases were closed, a rise of 2 cases. Aided during the month were 4,826 cases receiving an average grant of $158.51 monthly in addition to other resources. There were 55 families who were eligible for transfer from General Relief to Aid to Dependent Children.

¶ Disability Assistance: This category, being made up exclusively of persons who are incapacitated, has a high percentage being cared for in chronic hospitals and nursing homes. Therefore, payments to vendors, mainly for medical care, were greater than direct grants to recipients. Total expenditures amounted to $417,078 which was allocated to 3,273 clients for an average grant of $127.43 monthly. This, too, does not include deductible personal income.

¶ General Relief: Although expenditures dropped by $27,226, there were only 4 weekly payrolls as against 5 for June. A total of 534 applications were serviced; 473 approved and 61 rejected. There were 436 cases closed resulting in a net increase of 37 cases. An even hundred cases were transferred to other categories of assistance.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

August 9.

General Order No. 765.

Patrolmen Philip J. Corbo and Joseph M. Egan, Division 4, are hereby commended for the performance of meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 2 A.M., on July 28, 1960, while cruising Division 4 in the 400 Patrol Wagon, Patrolmen Corbo and Egan heard a radio message that a holdup of a taxi driver had occurred on Division 14 and that the taxi had been stolen from the driver and was believed to be heading toward the downtown Boston area. The officers immediately proceeded to Washington and Kneeland streets, which they considered a vantage point in the event the stolen vehicle continued toward the city. While waiting at that intersection, they observed a taxicab which answered the description given, traveling in a northerly direction in Washington street. The officers immediately pursued this vehicle, remaining a safe distance behind to prevent arousing the operator's suspicion that he was being followed, and when at the intersection of Washington and Avery streets pulled alongside the stolen vehicle, forcing it to the curb.

Both officers then alighted from the wagon and with drawn revolvers proceeded to each side of the stolen taxi and ordered the operator out. They searched the suspect, having information that a gun had been used in the above crime. They found no weapon on the suspect but upon searching the taxi found, secreted under the front seat on the driver's side, a .38 caliber Harrington & Richardson 5-shot revolver with four spent shells and one live cartridge in the chamber. At this time the officers arrested without a warrant on suspicion of armed robbery one Albert Rushford, 32 years, single, of 115 Chandler street, Boston.

The prisoner was brought to Station 4 where he was identified by the taxi driver who told the following story of the holdup. This man had hired his taxi at Boylston and Washington streets, Brighton, and ordered him to drive to a nearby vacant lot. Here, the prisoner placed a gun against the back of the driver's head and ordered him to turn over his wallet. When the taxicab driver turned around to look at the fare, his assailant said: "So you don't think this is a real gun!" and fired a shot through the windshield. The driver then gave up his wallet containing $17 in U. S. currency and personal papers. He was ordered to leave the cab and on doing so started to run, whereupon the holdup man fired a shot at him which missed. The bandit then drove from the scene in the taxicab.

The cab driver's wallet was recovered from the person of Albert Rushford with the money intact. The revolver was forwarded for examination by the department ballistics and photographs and fingerprints were taken by department officers.

On Thursday, July 28, 1960, officers of Division 14 arraigned in Brighton Court Albert Rushford on warrants charging him with assault with intent to murder, armed robbery, larceny of a motor vehicle, and violation of the firearm law, to wit, carrying a firearm without a permit. After hearing the evidence, Judge John Sullivan, presiding, ordered the prisoner held for the grand jury in $20,000 bail.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness and devotion to duty displayed by Patrolmen Corbo and Egan in this case who, in accomplishing this arrest, have rid our community, at least for the time being, of a dangerous criminal.

INSTRUMENT DETECTS CAVE-INS

Philadelphia repairs street cave-ins before they appear, detecting subsurface cavities with a new gravity device, the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing reports. The device consists of a small weight attached to a delicate spring hooked to a meter viewed through a microscope.

Gravity acts on the spring. Where there is a cavity, there is less pull—though only by a microscopic amount. It is sufficient though, to move the meter dial and point out the place needing repair.

MINNEAPOLIS FIRE TESTS

The bare bones of a fire sprinkler system were set up on the shore of Lake Calhoun by Minneapolis officials as part of a fire prevention seminar for hospital employees.

The seminar's identical morning and afternoon sessions were attended by about 200 nurses and other hospital workers, Fire Prevention Bureau officials said.

In addition to demonstrating the room-less sprinkler, eight members of the bureau discussed safety rules and extinguished fires in flammable liquids, plastic wastebaskets and an oxygen tent.

The five-man rescue squad fired a "lifegun," used to shoot lines to roofs, ice floes or other inaccessible spots.

No. 35

BOARD CITES RESPONSIBILITY FOR CHEMICAL FIRE ON PIER

Following an investigation of a fire at Pier No. 4, Northern avenue, on Tuesday, August 9, caused by highly inflammable chemicals, a special investigating board of Boston Fire Department officers, on August 15, submitted the following report to Mayor Collins:

The burning material consisted of zirconium sludge in settling tanks and building materials impregnated with zirconium. The chemical, zirconium, is highly inflammable and extremely sensitive when exposed to the air. Slight friction will cause it to ignite.

These materials were originally part of a structure located at the Raytheon Company plant on Willow street, Waltham, Mass., where an operation (using zirconium as a constituent) was carried on. A new process has been developed, and Raytheon has decided to eliminate the structure and dispose of it in its entirety.

Knowing the hazardous qualities of the building due to its contamination from the chemical, zirconium, Raytheon contacted Crossroads Marine Disposal Corporation, 26 "T" Wharf, Boston, whom Raytheon knew to be a company engaged in the business of disposing of atomic waste materials. An oral agreement was reached between Raytheon and Crossroads whereby the latter agreed to tear down the building, remove the materials to its place of business on Pier No. 4, and subsequently dump the building materials into the Atlantic Ocean. This project, due to its highly dangerous nature, is being done on weekends when Raytheon is closed.

This work was started on Saturday, August 6, 1960, and continued through Sunday until 6 A.M., Monday, August 8, 1960. At that time, a total of six loads of building materials had been deposited on Pier No. 4. It is significant to note that at all times when the work was being done at Waltham, the Safety Engineer of Raytheon directed that the building and surrounding area be kept completely wet down with streams of water. The work at Waltham is approximately half completed; and what remains of the structure at the plant is kept wet down at all times.

The appearance of the building materials placed on the pier Sunday night and Monday morning indicates at no time since its arrival from Waltham, was it soaked with water. On Tuesday, August 9, 1960, at 2.44 P.M., the fire in question involved these materials.

Crossroads Marine Disposal Corporation is licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission to collect and dispose of atomic wastes and its byproducts under certain regulations of the Commission. Zirconium is not a byproduct of any atomic operation.

When Crossroads brings any atomic waste to Pier No. 4, they notify the Coast Guard, giving them the complete data of the shipment. Crossroads, under Coast Guard regulations, is also under a duty to notify the Coast Guard of any hazardous substance brought to Pier No. 4 by Crossroads. In the instant case, this was not done.

In connection with the regulatory agencies involved—Federal, State, and Municipal, in addition to the license from the Atomic Energy Commission and Coast Guard regulations, Crossroads operates interstate under a permit from Interstate Commerce Commission and is subject to their regulation and inspection. In Massachusetts, Crossroads has a common carrier permit issued by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, which authorizes them to pick up "chemical, toxic, and radioactive waste material" from all points in the Commonwealth to Boston.

The City of Boston police department exercises concurrent jurisdiction with the Coast Guard in its inspection and policing of Boston Harbor and its environs. For example, the Coast Guard designates certain routes that Crossroads must use when traversing harbor waters with hazardous materials; and the Boston police assist in policing these routes. This system seems to operate efficiently.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Safety does not issue any permits or licenses to Crossroads. Any supervision of their operations in this Commonwealth by the Department of Public Safety is incidental and routine in nature.

In conclusion, it may be said that proper precautions were not

TRAFFIC RULING

The Traffic Commissioner has promulgated the following:

Whereas, If during the reconstruction of approaches to the bridge, over the Needham Branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, vehicles were to be allowed in Baker street, West Roxbury, and two-way traffic were to be allowed in Gardner street, West Roxbury, conformably to the rules and regulations of the Boston Traffic Commission otherwise operative, such reconstruction would be substantially impeded; and . . .

Whereas, Such reconstruction is to commence August 15, 1960; and

Whereas, A meeting of the Boston Traffic Commission is not scheduled to be held before the commencement of such reconstruction; now, therefore . . . I hereby promulgate the following rules and regulations to take effect forthwith and to be operative only until the completion of such reconstruction or the expiration of one month from the date hereof, whichever is earlier:

For the period aforesaid, the following rules are effective when and where official signs are in place:

Vehicles are excluded from the following street:

MAYOR'S ONE-WEEK VACATION CUT SHORT BY MTA STRIKE

Mayor Collins broke off his one-week Rangeley, Maine, vacation on August 23 and rushed back to Boston, arriving an hour after settlement of the twenty-four hour MTA strike.

After a five-hour automobile trip, the Mayor went into conference with key department heads who had been standing in readiness during the emergency.

After consultation with Traffic Commissioner Thomas J. Griffin and Corporation Counsel Arthur G. Coffey, the Mayor rescinded the emergency parking ban imposed Monday night in the area from Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay, to the North End.

Saturday Visits Now At Deer Island

Mayor John F. Collins, on August 24, approved new visiting hours at the Deer Island House of Correction.

Saturday visits will be permitted from 9.30 A.M. to 10.30 A.M. to wives and members of the immediate families who are unable to visit on the regular visiting days, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

This policy is necessary because many inmates are unable to have visits on the regular days because the employment of their mothers, fathers, and wives does not permit it.

Where there is proven hardship such visits will be permitted on Saturday morning.

The Mayor said he believes visits to the inmates by the parents or spouses are a great morale booster. It also allows them to plan firsthand for their return to society and plan for adjustments in their family status and to find employment.

Perishable Foods

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In accordance with the letter approved by your Honor on February 11, 1960, authority is requested to award contracts, without public advertisement, to the following-named companies for furnishing perishable foods, etc., to the various city departments from August 1, 1960, to March 31, 1961, inclusive:

Cudahy Packing Company, 25 Fruit and Produce Exchange, Boston; E. F. Deering Company, Inc., 22 and 24 Faneuil Hall Market, Boston.

Respectfully yours,

MICHAEL A. DESIMONE,
Purchasing Agent.

TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT.

Counting Parking Meter Money

DEAR SIR:

Late in 1958, the First National Bank of Boston was engaged to count the city parking meter collections which are made daily throughout the city by personnel from the Traffic Department. The collections as made are placed in locked containers and deposited each day at the bank; receipted for; counted; and then the bank sends the city a check each day in the amount of the prior days' total collection.

This arrangement has proven very satisfactory; it promotes efficiency; increases security; has allowed us to cut personnel; and is otherwise financially advantageous to the City of Boston because hitherto some of our employees had to spend a number of hours each day counting the collections.

Recently this department asked for informal bids on this work and proposals were sent to the First National Bank of Boston, the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, and the Rockland-Atlas National Bank of Boston. The only company who returned the proposal was the First National Bank of Boston who offered to do the work for $294 per month. I feel that this banking institution's monthly charge is a fair one and that public advertising would not be of any avail to the city in the present case.

Therefore, I request your authorization to award a contract to the First National Bank of Boston covering the daily counting by it of the city parking meter receipts during the period August 1, 1960, to March 31, 1961, at a monthly cost of $294, and without a public solicitation for proposals in the City Record for this service.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS J. GRIFFIN, Commissioner.

DEEP GLOOM AT CITY HALL DISPELLED BY HOUSE VOTE

The Massachusetts Legislature this week gave the necessary two-thirds approval of both branches to a $50 million bond issue permitting the state to participate in the Boston Government Center through the erection of an office building and three other structures.

In the House of Representatives, however, the bill, on August 30, failed to gain the necessary two-thirds vote and the measure was defeated in the enactment, or final, stage. Next day the House reversed its position and enacted the bill.

The 25 hours between 4 P.M. on August 30 and 5 P.M. on August 31 was a period of deep discouragement at City Hall.

Final defeat of the measure might have rung down a final curtain on the entire Government Center project. Without the state office buildings there would be no federal building and no new city hall in the Scollay Square area. Mayor Collins envisioned a mortal blow to his "Operation Revival."

On the evening of August 30, and well into the early hours of the next morning, the Mayor worked frantically to bolster support for the measure which was to come up again in the House the next afternoon on the question of reconsideration. He conferred with Boston civic and business leaders interested in establishing the Government Center. He contacted legislative leaders at the State House. He made personal appeals to many House members who had either voted against the bill, or had not been recorded on roll call.

Back at his desk at 7.30 on the morning of August 31, the Mayor issued this statement to the press:

"I am amazed that a project of such importance to the economy of the City of Boston and the entire state could be destroyed yesterday in such summary fashion.

"Unless this action is reversed the possibility of a new federal building on the site where it would do the most good is eliminated. This is another illustration of procrastination and delay which has seriously retarded our economy.

"I hope the legislators will see the seriousness of their action and see this vital bill through to final passage."

Governor Furcolo put the matter squarely in the lap of the Legislature with this statement:

"We will never succeed if we don't succeed today. So that there can be no possible misunderstanding of the situation, I want all legislators to know that their last opportunity to vote this year is on the pending measure. I have met my responsibility and now it is up to the Legislature."

The roll-call vote by which the bill originally failed of two-thirds majority was 127 to 81. The final roll-call vote, in which the measure was enacted, was 153 to 72. Two Boston House members voted against the bill and two were not recorded. Most of the Boston legislators worked diligently to bolster support for the measure.

Upon learning of final enactment of the bill in the House, Mayor Collins stated as follows:

"I am highly pleased that logic and reason ultimately prevailed and that the vast Government Center project need now clear only one last hurdle—the two-thirds vote in the Massachusetts Senate.

"I am confident that the responsible members of that branch will quickly clear this obstacle and this long-awaited project will leave the drawing boards and become an actuality, thereby strengthening the economy not only of the City of Boston but also of the entire Commonwealth."

On September 1, the Senate passed the bill to be enacted by the safe margin of 33 to 4.

Two Mayors Eulogize Robert E. Cunniff

Mayor John F. Collins and former Mayor John B. Hynes, on August 31, issued statements on the death of Robert E. Cunniff, former secretary of the Boston Finance Commission:

Mayor Collins stated:

"Robert E. Cunniff spent a lifetime in the service of the citizens of Boston. As secretary and guiding light of the Boston Finance Commission for 35 years, he well earned the laurel 'Watchdog of the City Government'.

"My sincere condolences go to his beloved family, to which he was devoted."

Former Mayor John B. Hynes stated:

"Mr. Cunniff was a great student of municipal government, who rendered invaluable aid to the City of Boston during his many years with the commission.

"His wise counsel and astuteness saved the city government from making many bad mistakes, which could have cost our taxpayers great sums of money.

"He was a severe, but exceedingly honest critic, respected by friend and foe alike. I deeply regret his passing and extend my sympathy to his family."

BOSTON'S MILK SUPPLY

Boston has one of the best milk supplies in the United States. This accomplishment is most remarkable when it is realized that we are furthest from our source of supply than any other major city. The area from which we draw our source of supply extends from the Canadian border through most all of the New England states.

Boston makes no farm inspection. The quality of the milk on the farm is controlled by bacteriological examination of it, as it arrives at the country receiving station. Every dealer licensed to sell in Boston is required to examine each producer's milk at least twice a month. If, after examination, a producer's milk is found not to meet our standards, a notice is sent requiring him to abate the problem. After a second examination, if it still does not meet the standards, this producer's supply is excluded from the Boston market.

The City of Boston requires all milk sold in the city to be pasteurized. Constant inspections of the pasteurization plants are made and samples are collected routinely for both chemical and bacteriological examinations.

As a result of the program, the following accomplishments have been realized:

1. No outbreaks of diseases traceable to milk have occurred in the past 20 years.

2. The bacterial standards of milk, both raw and pasteurized rank with the best in the country.

3. The keeping quality of milk is greater than ever before.

No. 37

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES TO AID "HIGH RISK" AREAS

An unprecedented emergency program to provide fire insurance protection on virtually all properties meeting reasonable underwriting standards will be inaugurated on October 1 in the so-called high risk areas of Boston by the combined stock and mutual fire insurance companies doing business in Massachusetts, it was announced on September 6. More than 200 companies are involved in the plan.

The voluntary underwriting plan launches a concentrated frontal attack on the long-standing problem of inadequate fire insurance in these high risk areas, particularly in Roxbury and the South End.

Alerted By Public Officials

The program was initiated at the suggestion of the Joint Legislative Committee on Insurance and the Massachusetts Department of Insurance.

Boston city official members and citizen committees appointed by the Mayor have also been instrumental in bringing to light many inequities suffered by responsible property owners in their efforts to obtain fire insurance.

To carry out the program the insurance companies have voluntarily agreed:

1. That no property in the high risk areas will be denied insurance unless there has first been a physical inspection of the premises.

2. If such inspection discloses that the property is not insurable, the owner, on request, will be advised as to which specific improvements or repairs must be made to meet reasonable underwriting standards.

3. Policies issued will be at standard rates.

4. To facilitate the handling of these inspections, an All-Industry Inspection Office will be set up as a central clearing house on October 1 at the offices of the New England Fire Insurance Rating Association, 89 Broad street, which will supervise the inspection service.

Details of Program

On and after October 1 companies receiving applications for fire insurance on properties in the high risk areas will forward to the clearing house a request to inspect the property in question. The All-Industry Inspection Office will carry out the inspection, using a detailed inspection form specifically devised for this program.

The completed inspection form will be sent to the company which requested the inspection, and a copy will be filed in the All-Industry Inspection Office. If the company declines to insure the property, it will forward a declination report to the same office.

Some companies may choose to make their own inspections, in which event they also will submit the completed standard inspection form to the All-Industry Inspection Office if the application is declined, together with the declination report.

A complete record of applications which have been declined, as well as a record of those which have been accepted by the companies, thus will become permanently established at the All-Industry Inspection Office.

Self Help Still a Factor

As to the immediate problem, it was conceded by all three groups announcing the program that at the present time there are hundreds of properties in the areas which are "totally uninsurable," due to general disrepair, partial or total abandonment, accumulation of rubbish, or their location adjacent to buildings which are obvious firetraps, etc.

At the same time, there was agreement that many of these properties could be brought up to insurable standards at relatively little expense to their owners.

"The insurance companies realize what is at stake here," said one company official, "and they have gone just about as far as they can to alleviate this problem and at the same time remain within the law and the requirements of sound insurance practice.

"We are prepared to go all the way to help people who are sincerely interested in helping themselves," the official said. "But there is no justifiable reason why any insurance company should be expected to underwrite the irresponsibility of a property owner who obviously has no interest in making necessary physical improvements to bring his own building up to standard."

MAYOR URGES FEDERAL APPROVAL OF DIRECT BOSTON-SOUTH PACIFIC AIR SERVICE

Mayor Collins, in a communication to the Civil Aeronautics Board, on September 7, stated as follows:

¶ Boston, the virtual birthplace of our great republic, has long depended upon the growth of its international trade to bolster and support our economy. At the present time, Boston has direct single carrier service across the Atlantic to the major areas of Europe. No similar service, however, is provided Boston to the areas of the Pacific.

¶ In the present proceedings, a U. S. Flag carrier proposes to operate direct service from Boston to the Far East. Your Examiner, in his report, has recommended this service. Speaking for the City of Boston, I fully endorse the need of this service.

¶ Boston has long enjoyed, since the days of the early clipper ships sailing from the seaports of New England, a community of interest with the Far East. In this age of the jet, Boston must have this new concept of travel to strengthen and bolster its ties with this important area.

Australasia Link

¶ Secondly, the Examiner has found the need of direct U. S. carrier service from Boston to the South Pacific. With the great responsibilities that our nation, as a leader of the free world, must accept, it is only logical that direct U. S. Flag carrier service be provided from the cultural and industrial areas of New England to the allied countries of Australasia.

¶ Your Examiner also calls for competitive service from Boston to Hawaii. We have long recognized in the growth of our great nation that the motivation and challenge generated by competition results in the finest products and service. The Examiner recognizes these values in his recommendation. Close ties must exist between Boston and Hawaii for the mutual promotion of business and tourist opportunities but, possibly more important, to encourage and strengthen a closer link and understanding among the people of our great union.

Boost for New England

¶ Additionally, it should be mentioned that Boston serves as a port of entry and a point of departure for the adjacent states of the New England conclave; therefore, the services to which I refer will not only serve to the benefit of the immediate Boston area but also to the economy and development of all New England states.

¶ Speaking for the people of Boston, we have undertaken at great expense the development of new industries, the promotion of our area as a vacation land, and the generation of increased international trade. These efforts will be greatly served by the Board acting favorably on the recommendations submitted by your Examiner.

tirement System, they should familiarize themselves with the above basic concepts of the retirement provisions of section 16 of chapter 32 of the General Laws. Complete adherence to the Retirement Statutes may at a later date protect the city from expensive Workmen's Compensation claims.

Further, immediate contact should be established between a department head and the Retirement Board regarding the eligibility for a disability retirement allowance of an employee, who is to be discharged or removed, or whose position is to be abolished because of a mental or physical illness, in order to ascertain his eligibility for a disability retirement allowance.

It would appear that strict and full conformance to the Retirement Statutes and provisions of the law will provide protection not only for the employees but for the city as well.

The above directive has been prepared by the Supervisor of Personnel. All inquiries concerning the above should be addressed directly to him.

Deer Island Donates 331 Pints of Blood

Albert E. DeSaulniers, Penal Institutions Commissioner, on September 6, stated as follows:

The Bloodmobile of the American Red Cross made its quarterly appeal for blood at the House of Correction, Deer Island, on Wednesday and Thursday, August 31 and September 1, during which time 331 pints of blood were donated by inmates. The blood is to be used by the Veterans Services, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Chelsea Soldiers Home and other units throughout the Commonwealth who may be in need.

During the final day of the Bloodmobile, three pints of rare blood donated by inmates was rushed by ambulance to a woman who had undergone an emergency operation and whose profuse bleeding may have been fatal, had it not been for the rare type blood which was relayed in plastic bags to the hospital in a special ambulance.

DIRECTIVE CITES LAW ON RETIREMENT PROCEDURES

Director of Administrative Services John P. McMorro, on September 1, issued the following directive to all department heads, entitled "Rules Applying to the State-Boston Retirement System":

The law explicitly states that any employee who has attained the requirements of the two items listed below shall not be discharged or removed from his position, nor shall his position be abolished, until the Retirement Board is officially notified of the reasons for same:

1. Any employee who is a member of the State-Boston Retirement System and who has reached the age of 55, and has at least 15 years of creditable service; or
2. Any employee less than 55 years of age, who has 20 years of creditable service.

Although department heads do not have the responsibility for the administration and execution of the various rules and regulations pertaining to the State-Boston Re-

PRUDENTIAL CENTER BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Governor Furcolo, on September 7, signed into law the bill which allows Prudential Insurance Company to enter into a contract with the City of Boston for construction of its huge center in the Back Bay under the urban renewal laws.

Mayor Collins disclosed earlier that a "friendly" suit will be filed in Superior Court to make sure there is nothing in the legislation that could be seized upon at a later date to block or delay construction.

Following the court ruling Prudential is expected to resume construction of its 52-story office building, foundations for which have already been laid in the old Back Bay yards of the Boston & Albany Railroad.

Ultimately, the center will be a complex of buildings, including a hotel, apartment buildings, and a municipal auditorium whose value will be far more than $100,000,000.

The legislation to be signed by the Governor allows Prudential to enter into a tax agreement with the city which provides for a sliding scale of payments during the construction period and a formula for such payments after completion of the project.

"UNION LABEL WEEK" DECLARATION

Whereas, The trade union movement, throughout its long history of service to the working people of our land, has accomplished many and lasting benefits for all who toil; and

Whereas, It urges its own membership and the consumer public in general to patronize products and services which are identified by the traditional and distinctive emblem of the union label; and

Whereas, The effort of organized labor in guiding and shaping the buying and spending habits of its members and the public at large has resulted in increased business, greater productivity, more employment, and a greater measure of prosperity for all; and

Whereas, The American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, in honor of the purposes and principles that are the heritage of union workers, have designated September 5-11, 1960, as "Union Label Week"; now therefore

I, John F. Collins, Mayor of the City of Boston, do hereby declare the week, September 5-11, 1960, as "Union Label Week" in the City of Boston, and I urge all of our citizens to take appropriate notice of this deserving occasion.

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 52

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1960

No. 38

BOSTON'S VOTING PROCEDURE NOW COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC

Boston's election machinery became completely automatic for the first time in the State Primaries of September 13, 1960. Each of the 275 voting precincts is now equipped with automatic voting machines completing a 10-year program during which 1,400 balloting units were purchased at a cost in excess of $2 million.

Election officials had hoped that everything would be automatic on Primary Day but they did not count on the hurricane which hit Boston on the previous afternoon.

Power failures in many parts of the city gave considerable trouble. The voting machines could be shifted to manual operation, but polling places, in many instances, were without electric light. It was, however, a bright sunny day.

Early in the day, Mayor Collins directed the Civil Defense Department and the Fire Department to supply emergency generating plants and lighting equipment to polling places where the electric current had been knocked out by the storm. By early afternoon the situation had improved and by six o'clock, approaching a peak period for voting, lights were restored to all polling places.

No less than 10 radio cars, under the direction of the chief custodian of voting machines, patrolled the city answering the calls of wardens and, in some instances, irate citizens. Most of the complaints were about insufficient illumination especially in school basements where many of the voting machines were located. The efficiency of the machines themselves caused no serious problems. The unofficial vote tally channeled through Police Headquarters and thence to the TV, radio, and press proved to be a smooth, efficient operation.

The Boston Edison Company, working feverishly to restore power throughout the entire metropolitan area, gave high priority to the problems confronting the conduct of the primary election.

The unofficial total vote was 329,839, or 41.8 per cent of the number of citizens on the registration rolls.

A heavy turnout of voters in the final hours helped boost what threatened to be a sagging primary. The 41.8 per cent vote compares with 44.82 per cent in the primary four years ago and 43.22 per cent in the 1958 primary. The aftermath of the hurricane undoubtedly kept many people away from the polls.

Voting was heavier than usual in several parts of the city, including South Boston, Roxbury, East Boston, North End, West Roxbury, Hyde Park, Mattapan, and Roslindale. Spirited local contests were cited by election officials as the reason for the higher than average voter turnout in those areas. During the morning hours the vote was light, picking up considerably toward late afternoon.

Mayor Collins, on September 14, expressed his gratitude to the heads of the Election, Police, Fire, and Civil Defense Departments for the cooperation of those agencies in overcoming serious handicaps as they kept the city's election machinery in relatively smooth working order.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

September 7.

General Order No. 773.

The annual ball of the Boston Police Relief Association will be held in the Boston Garden, Wednesday evening, November 30, 1960.

The proceeds of the ball, as members of the department know, are added to the funds of the association and are used for the payment of sick and death benefits to members of the association and their families.

It is the desire of the Commissioner, the Superintendent, and the Board of Directors of the Association that all members of the Force interest themselves and make a special effort to dispose of the tickets for the ball, and thereby make it such a success that the finances of the association will remain on a sound basis, so that the good work accomplished by the association in assisting its members in time of sickness or death since it was organized in 1871 may be continued.

The tickets for the ball will be distributed to each station by the treasurer, Patrolman George M. Walsh, Traffic Division, who will receive a receipt therefor. Captains of divisions will distribute the tickets to their officers and keep a correct list of the number of tickets given to each man. Each officer will make a daily return to his captain of the number of tickets he has sold, together with the name and address of the purchaser, and will return the money received to his captain.

All officers will be held strictly responsible for tickets allotted to them.

Captains will collect each day all money received by officers in the sale of tickets. This money will be converted into a check made payable to George M. Walsh, Treasurer, B. P. R. A., and forwarded to the Superintendent by morning mail the following day. A correct list containing the ticket numbers, together with the names and addresses of purchasers of tickets, shall be kept on file at the various divisions. In this way, it is expected that a complete canvass of the city will be made and a substantial increase in the sale of tickets will be accomplished.

All tickets that remain unsold on December 1, 1960, will be collected by the captain of each division and returned to Patrolman Walsh, Traffic Division, who will furnish a receipt therefor.

September 7.

General Order No. 774.

The following reassignments are hereby ordered to take effect on Wednesday, September 7, 1960, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.:

Patrolman Louis A. Scapicchio, from Division 11 to Division 15.

Patrolman Joseph P. Masucci, from Division 17 to Division 15.

September 12.

General Order No. 775.

Patrolman James A. Keough, Division 1, is hereby commended for the performance of meritorious police duty and is granted three days' additional vacation.

At about 8.00 P.M. on Monday, August 1, 1960, Patrolman Keough while patrolling his route observed a woman in Scollay square, at Hanover street, calling for police assistance. Immediately going to her aid, the officer learned that there was a man brandishing a gun in Brother's Cafe, Hanover street, threatening to shoot the owner and the bartender.

Patrolman Keough ran to the cafe and upon entering observed a man with what appeared to be a firearm in his hand. The officer grappled with this subject and after a struggle lasting several minutes succeeded in wresting from him a .25 caliber Browning Arms Company semi-automatic pistol, fully loaded, and containing five cartridges. Patrolman Keough immediately placed the subject under arrest for violation of the Firearms Law.

Subsequent investigation disclosed that the prisoner, identified as one Reginald H. Libby, age 36 years, married, of 11 Bowdoin street, city, had obtained the gun and other property as the result of his breaking and entering in the nighttime on July 29, 1960, the office of a company located in Pemberton square.

On August 2, 1960, the subject was arraigned in Central Municipal Court. Six complaints were issued against him for carrying a revolver without a permit so to do; breaking and entering a building in the nighttime and larceny; and three complaints of assault by means of a dangerous weapon. Libby is presently being held in $5,000 for the grand jury.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by Patrolman Keough who, single-handedly and without hesitation, seized this armed criminal, obtained possession of his gun and effected his prompt arrest.

AUGUST WELFARE COSTS AT 1960 PEAK

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department's report for August:

¶ Departmental expenditures were $3,147,361 for August as compared to $2,955,153 for the previous month. This represented an increase of $192,208 or 6.5 per cent and was the highest monthly total recorded thus far in 1960. The reason for this occurrence was the 5.2 per cent cost-of-living adjustment. Although this budget adjustment was effective in July, the full impact for the entire caseload was not apparent until August. All categories of assistance showed greater expenditures. However, the caseload as of the end of the month was 25,298 as against 25,382 for July; a decrease of 84 cases.

¶ Old Age Assistance: There were 208 applications approved and 255 cases closed, bringing the caseload down to 15,782. This trend has been continuous for the last eight years. The primary reason for requesting aid was unemployment caused by illness. Of the total number approved, 140 or 67 per cent were also receiving Social Security benefits. This resource being too small to meet budgeted needs made it necessary for the department to grant supplementary funds. Expenditures amounted to $1,771,640, an average cost per case of $109.36 for 15,909 cases which received assistance.

¶ Aid to Dependent Children: An increase of $18,932 during August brought the total payments to $783,898. There were 4,840 cases representing 16,344 persons of whom 12,704 were children. The average case consisted of 3.4 persons receiving $161.92 from the department exclusive of any other resources. A slight decrease in the caseload was reported; the major factor being that the client returned to work with sufficient income to equal or exceed an A.D.C. budget.

¶ Disability Assistance: During August, $432,009 was expended for 3,259 persons, an average of $132.13. Almost half of the cost, $210,678, was for medical payments. There were 174 applications processed; 107 approved, 67 rejected. Of the latter group, 32 were rejected for lack of medical eligibility. A decrease of 25 cases reduced the caseload to 3,199, as of the end of the month.

¶ General Relief: Applications approved totaled 494; cases closed 500, a net drop of 6 cases. Aside from this activity, there were 66 requests for assistance which were denied. Unemployment was the primary cause for persons being in need, while return to employment was the fundamental reason for closings. Transfers to other more permanent types of assistance were effected in 124 instances, most of these due to eligibility for Aid to Dependent Children. Expenditures amounted to $159,814, an average of $74.91 for 2,008 cases which received assistance during the month.

HITCHHIKERS A NUISANCE

"Columbus police who have been cracking down on jaywalkers since early June will also be directed to break up illegal hitchhiking practices," Chief George W. Scholer has announced.

Chief Scholer issued a stern warning in a police bulletin that soliciting rides by walking up to automobiles would not be tolerated.

"Police have received a number of complaints that hitchhikers, mostly children, have been approaching motorists stopped for traffic lights and asking for rides. Some have become abusive when turned down," he said.

The Mayor released the text of a letter he received from David M. Walker, Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner, praising the Mayor's program.

TEXT OF WASHINGTON LETTER

Following is the text of Commissioner Walker's letter:

¶ DEAR MAYOR COLLINS:

¶ I was pleased indeed to have had the opportunity to review the proposed Boston Development Program. It is a dynamic and vigorous program well suited to the size and scope of Boston's problems and look at the future.

¶ I am confident that with the atmosphere and enthusiasm now abroad in Boston and with the wholehearted cooperation of the Redevelopment Authority that Boston will tackle its problems with courage, confidence, and accomplishment.

¶ I was particularly glad to have your report on the Prudential and Government Center legislation. Boston indeed now has the tools it needs to do the job.

¶ You inquired of me about the availability of federal funds for federal participation in the program. I am pleased to confirm to you now what I said earlier.

¶ As you know, capital grant funds are now available and I am certain additional funds will be provided by the Congress next year.

¶ If the Redevelopment Authority and the City Council give the necessary authorization we will be happy to do as agreed:

¶ 1. Review the entire program in detail and work out an over-all administrative approach to it from the standpoint of the Urban Renewal Administration.

¶ 2. Subject to the established procedures, agree to make available capital grant reservations for one third of the program, or $20 million, as soon as processing can be completed.

¶ 3. State to the City and the Authority that the $20 million is in effect a "down payment" on the Boston program and that the remaining two thirds will be made available as additional grant funds are available and as the program progresses. I am confident that no delays will be encountered because of federal funds or activities.

¶ I look forward to working with you and the Authority in carrying this program forward.

Sincerely yours,

DAVID M. WALKER,
Urban Renewal Commissioner.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT

Commenting on Commissioner Walker's letter, Mayor Collins stated as follows:

¶ This is a tremendous and heartwarming vote of confidence in Boston and our program on the part of the federal government. It should set at rest any doubts about the federal government's willingness to support the program to the hilt.

¶ On behalf of the people of our city I would like to express our deep appreciation to Mr. Walker. This action on his part is typical of the vigorous leadership he has given to the administration of the urban renewal program.

¶ The state government and the federal government have given us the tools to rebuild the City of Boston. The rest is up to us.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Real Estate Board during the week issued statements supporting the Mayor's program.

REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY STATEMENT

The Boston Redevelopment Authority, on September 28, pledged its support to the Mayor's program. It issued the following statement:

The members of the Redevelopment Authority have studied and discussed the program for urban renewal presented to them by Mayor Collins last week. This program outlined a course of action which offers to the city the hope of a more attractive climate for residents, businessmen, and visitors. With its emphasis on restoring present run-down neighborhoods through rehabilitation and the preservation of the historical values built in over the centuries, it should remove the fears of many of our citizens that the "bulldozer" treatment will destroy the city's charm.

It offers a challenge to the neighborhoods where people live as well as to the business community to participate in recreating a desirable atmosphere for living and working. The Authority expects that it will stimulate the creation of a sound economic base for future growth.

During the current year the Authority has submitted two self-liquidating projects, one in Mattapan and one in Brighton, for the Mayor's consideration. It has also proposed an industrial-commercial redevelopment in the Castle Square area. Members of the Authority believe that there is considerable merit in moving forward on these three areas. The Castle Square area would eventually, in accordance with Mayor Collins' program, perhaps become part of the general neighborhood renewal plan for the South End.

The Authority is anxious to move forward by preparing necessary plans and specific programs to obtain federal aid and city support. Its members pledge the Mayor and all citizens that they will cooperate in every possible way to make the program a success.

Certain portions of the proposed reorganization plan require decisions on legal questions and staff assignments which cannot be hastily reached. The Authority is seeking legal guidance as to its position on points of law. Although the members of the Authority may differ in some details with the organization plan submitted by Mayor Collins, it recognizes the need for additional personnel to carry out the vastly expanded duties assigned to the Authority under the Government Center and Prudential legislation as well as the over-all urban renewal program which has been proposed.

FIN. COM. WOULD COMPLETELY REAPPRAISE PARKING METERS

September 21, 1960.

To the Honorable the City Council.

There is currently before your Committee an order to authorize the Boston Traffic Department to purchase and install 2,000 new parking meters and for the conversion of present meters to accommodate a new fee rate. (See Appendix.)

According to the Mayor's letter which accompanies the order, it is proposed to revise the meter fee from 5 cents to 10 cents per hour in the City Proper, and from 1 to 5-cent operation to a straight 5-cent operation in suburban areas. (See Appendix.)

THE PROGRAM AS PROPOSED BY TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT

This program means that mechanisms, estimated to cost approximately $25 each, would be purchased for Boston's 6,000 intown meters to accommodate the rate increase to 10 cents per hour, and similar mechanisms would be installed in the City's approximately 2,000 meters located in suburban areas to place them on a straight 5-cent per hour basis.

In addition, it is proposed that 2,000 new meters be purchased and installed at locations which are presently without meters.

FIN. COM.'S POSITION

It is the conclusion of the Finance Commission that it is not necessary to purchase as many as 2,000 new meters at this time, nor is it necessary to purchase new mechanisms to carry out the suburban program. Subsequent paragraphs will demonstrate how the entire program can be put into operation at far less than the $300,000 amount mentioned in the letter from the Mayor which accompanies the order. (See Appendix II.)

Furthermore, the Finance Commission feels that the present situation with respect to parking meters calls for a complete reappraisal.

The order before your committee appears, at this time, to request too wide a grant of authority and commitment of parking meter receipts.

REDUCING THE NUMBER OF NEEDED NEW METERS

The proposed 2,000 new meters, according to plans of the Traffic Department, are slated for the following uses:

For new Boston Proper locations.....	854
For new suburban locations....	615
For miscellaneous installations..	131
Total.....	1,600

* Residents and nonresidents included.

This leaves a balance of 400 meters (2,000 minus 1,600) for a stock reserve. This would certainly be a generous stock pile if the recommendations of this report to reduce the number of new meters are observed.

The conclusion that the 2,000 new meters sought in this order can be greatly reduced is based on the following considerations:

The list of new locations in the Boston Proper area allocates 73 to Cambridge street (Chambers to Charles) which should wait until after the West End redevelopment is done. The 47 meters allocated to Tremont street (Herald to Dover) have been installed.

There are 615 new locations listed for Brighton, Dorchester, Hyde Park, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, South Boston, and West Roxbury.

Observations indicate that there are hundreds of meters now serving no useful purpose in many of these suburban districts. These could be relocated to the proposed new suburban spots and their present 1 to 5-cent mechanisms replaced with the straight 5-cent per hour mechanisms which will be taken from the thousands of intown meters when 10-cent mechanisms are inserted in the latter. Thus instead of purchasing 615 new meters for those suburban areas, all that would be needed would be a relocation of those meter posts and heads which are serving no essential purpose now, and the shifting of intown mechanisms to the suburbs when the new program of increased fees goes into operation.

Initial Questions

Several initial questions call for determination.

(a) If the intown meter fee is to be increased to 10 cents per hour, shall this apply to the entire present 6,000 5-cent per hour meters in the general Boston Proper area, or only to 2,000 meters in the "inner core" area which has been the group of meters under consideration in previous discussions of meter fee increase? Of course, there is a great deal of precedent for increasing meter fees according to a national survey of the practice in other cities. (See Survey of On-Street Parking Meter Rate Practice of American Cities.—San Francisco Parking Authority.)

(b) Is it desirable to place all the suburban meters on a straight 5-cent basis?

(c) In considering the number of downtown meters to be converted to a 10-cent fee per hour use, should it not be determined whether the 430 meters located under the Fitzgerald Expressway can be converted under the State permit of occupancy?

Approximately 120 meters located under the Expressway are brand new and the remaining 310 are only three years old.

TWO MAJOR METERED AREAS
I. SUBURBAN AREAS

There are approximately 2,000 1 to 5-cent accumulative meters located in so-called suburban areas (Brighton, Dorchester, Hyde Park, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, East Boston, South Boston, and West Roxbury). A field survey was made to determine what use was being made of present parking meters in suburban areas.

The following sampling observations made in the course of this survey support the conclusion that hundreds of these meters are serving no useful purpose and could be moved to the proposed new suburban locations listed by the Traffic Department.

FIELD OBSERVATIONS

BRIGHTON. A field survey of the use of parking meters in the area of Commonwealth avenue, Brighton avenue, yielded the following observations:

On Commonwealth avenue for some hundred yards, on either side of Harvard avenue intersection a deep bay had been cut into the reservation in the center strip of Commonwealth avenue to accommodate the parking of cars, with a parking meter installed for each car space.

There were 85 fully equipped parking meters in such bays. From 31 additional meter posts, the heads had been removed. Of the 85 operative meters, 11 were legally in use (the time had not expired); there were 14 violations. Sixty of the metered spaces were vacant.

In other words, it means that the City had gone to the expense of installing 85 meters, in addition to 31 meters from which the heads had been eventually removed; yet only 11 meters were legally in use.

Only 13 per cent of the available meters were being legally used, and 16.5 per cent were parked illegally. Most amazing was the fact that 70.5 per cent of the metered spaces were vacant. In one area of 40 metered spaces along the center strip of Commonwealth avenue only one of the spaces contained a legally parked car.

In brief, an original installation of 116 meters is virtually unused.

A total of 140 meters was observed in the same area to be available at the sidewalk curb (as distinguished from the center strip). Investigation showed that 26 per cent of the meters were legally in use, 34 per cent were in violation, and 40 per cent of the metered spaces were vacant.

On both sides of Brighton avenue, from Commonwealth avenue to Allston street, a total of 164 metered spaces was available. Observation revealed that 27 per cent of the meters were legally in use, 23 per cent were in violation. Fifty per cent of the metered spaces were vacant.

EAST BOSTON and SOUTH BOSTON.

A pronounced disregard of meters with consequent ineffectiveness in carrying out a parking meter program was observed in East Boston.

At Central square, East Boston, of 98 available meters, 23.5 per cent contained legally parked cars, 48 per cent contained illegally parked cars, 28.5 per cent of the spaces were vacant.

At Breed square, Orient Heights, of 40 metered spaces, 20 per cent contained legally parked cars, 57.5 per cent were in violation, and 22.5 per cent were vacant.

In South Boston on West Broadway, in the vicinity of Perkins square, the Traffic Department found it advisable to remove the heads of many meters for the purpose of consolidating metered spaces and tying them more closely to the active business center. Of 64 metered spaces, 42 per cent contained legally parked cars, 45.5 per cent contained illegally parked cars, 12.5 per cent were vacant.

The inescapable conclusion is that in many areas the meters are performing no useful function and ought to be considered for removal to more likely spots or retained in storage for future use. In some suburban areas a common pattern is observed; many cars are parked just beyond the metered area, indicating no intention to use meters. In terms of the short-term parker, for whom the metered space was established, and who represents the only justification for metered parking, it seems reasonable that only an adequate number of metered spaces should be available in the immediate vicinity of concentrated business. Beyond that point, the advisability of metering curb space is highly questionable.

It seems clear that a reappraisal of the suburban parking situation should be made and new plans and ideas on proper location and use of meters in such areas worked out.

The situation suggests the exercise of caution in treating present plans which call for installation of over 500 new meters in new suburban locations.

AVERAGE DAILY PARKING METER RECEIPTS

With such widespread public disregard of parking meters, it is not surprising to find a relatively low average daily parking meter receipts in many suburban areas as the following table indicates. A per meter daily average of 25 cents would not be an unreasonable expectation.

II. INTOWN PARKING METERS

Reference has already been made in this report to the following factors:

(a) The Traffic Commission proposes raising the parking meter fee to 10 cents in the intown area. This would affect close to 6,000 meters.

(b) The Traffic Department proposes purchasing 854 meters for additional locations in the intown area.

(c) This report has already pointed out that this number can be reduced.

One basic criticism made by many observers is the relative ineffectiveness of the present on-street intown parking program in achieving its objective in providing a short-time parking space for as many business patrons as possible. The amount of average daily revenue per meter is indicative of the relative effectiveness in various intown areas. The following table is a clear indication of this situation.

The maximum fee potential of a meter is probably between 35 and 40 cents per day. If allowance is made for idle time and reasonable volume of violations, a standard of expectancy of 30 to 35 cents per day per meter might well be regarded as reasonable in the intown areas where meters are in more or less continuous operation during the day.

The reason for the relatively low average daily parking meter revenue in some parts of the general intown area is clear to any observer. A recent sampling of intown meters showed that of 700 meters observed, 61.5 per cent represented legally parked cars, 33.8 per cent represented spaces occupied but "in violation", and 4.3 per cent of the spaces were vacant. In such a situation the use of a few "Meter Maids," now used in several cities, might be considered, to achieve the objective of metered parking.

The following table shows the situation as it relates to city-operated off-street parking lots.

Conclusions

Analysis leads the Finance Commission to the following conclusions:

1. The order before your Committee appears, at this time, to request too wide a grant of authority and commitment of parking meter receipts.

2. The proposed expenditure of $300,000, contemplated by this order, appears to be excessive for the purpose. If a reappraisal of the situation and indicated adjustments were made, it appears that the amount could be reduced by more than $100,000.

3. Suggestions made in this report should be explored by the Traffic Department to reduce the expenditure which will be involved.

4. A reappraisal of the entire parking situation should be a first step before taking action.

Respectfully submitted,

ANTHONY J. YOUNG, Chairman,
ROGER J. ABIZAID, M.D.,
MAXWELL B. GROSSMAN,

APPENDIX I

(Copy of Order)

Ordered, That pursuant to General Laws, chapter 40, section 22A, the Boston Traffic Department be, and hereby is, authorized to enter, from time to time, into one or more agreements for the acquisition of and installation of not more than two thousand (2,000) parking meters in the aggregate and for the conversion of present meters to accommodate the change in fees, such agreement to provide that payments thereunder to the vendors of said parking meters be made over a period of not exceeding five (5) years, without appropriation, from fees received for the use of such parking meters.

APPENDIX II.

(Copy)

CITY OF BOSTON.
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

August 1, 1960.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN:

I transmit herewith a communication of the Boston Traffic Commission concerning their vote to revise the rates of parking meter fees from five to ten cents an hour in the City Proper and to change the parking meter fees in the suburban areas from a penny-nickel operation to a nickel per hour operation. In order to accomplish this it will be necessary for the Traffic Commission to purchase 2,000 new meters and in addition to replace mechanical parts for converting the present meters to accommodate the change in fees. It is estimated that this will cost $300,000.

In my opinion, the City should in purchasing, installing, and converting such meters take advantage of the provisions of section 22A, chapter 40 of the General Laws whereby parking meters may be purchased and paid for out of current parking meter receipts for a period not exceeding five years, without appropriation by the City.

I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

September 22.

General Order No. 778.

Sergeant Michael J. Bucelwicz and Patrolmen Francis Sheehan and Francis J. McCarthy of Division 4 are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

At about 3.03 A.M., August 24, 1960, Sergeant Michael J. Bucelwicz, Patrol Supervisor, and Patrolmen Francis Sheehan and Francis J. McCarthy, while patrolling in Washington street and when in the vicinity of 1071 Washington street, Boston, heard a burglar alarm. On investigation, the alarm was sounding from the Chateau Cafe, 1071 Washington street.

The officers immediately proceeded to the location with Sergeant Bucelwicz remaining at the front door of the establishment and Patrolmen Sheehan and McCarthy inspecting the area surrounding the building. The officers observed a window in the rear broken and Patrolman McCarthy remained there while Patrolman Sheehan went to the front and advised Sergeant Bucelwicz they were going to enter the premises through that window.

On inspecting the premises, they found behind the counter in a crouched position a man who, upon interrogation, stated he was Rudolph V. Vasques, 33 years, single, of 8 Pine street, Boston. He was arrested without a warrant, to wit: Breaking and entering in the nighttime. Upon investigation it was found that an attempt had been made to pry open the cigarette machine and juke box.

The manager of the Chateau Cafe was notified and responded to the location. He stated that $10 in coin had been removed from the register but the day's receipts that were hidden had not been found. The manager, Louis Wilansky, 532 Tremont street, Boston, verified the fact that an attempt had been made to break into the cigarette machine and juke box. The premises were dusted for fingerprints and pictures were taken at the scene.

In the morning of August 24, 1960, after his appearance in the lineup at Headquarters, Rudolph V. Vasques was arraigned in Central Municipal Court on a warrant, to wit: Breaking and entering a building in the nighttime, with the case being continued to September 2, 1960. On that date, Judge Lewiton held Rudolph V. Vasques for the grand jury in $5,000 bail.

This is the first arrest of this subject in Boston. However, he has a previous history of arrests and convictions in Kansas for armed robbery and in Ohio for several cases of breaking and entering for which he was sentenced on January 22, 1957, to one to fifteen years. He was on parole from the state of Ohio when the crime of August 24 was committed.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness and devotion to duty of these officers in this case which brought about the removal from this city of a dangerous character who would have continued, if not apprehended, in his criminal activities.

September 26.

General Order No. 779.

Patrolmen Anthony C. Antonuccio and Ellsworth W. Williams, Division 15, are hereby commended for the performance of meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

As a result of information received by Patrolmen Antonuccio and Williams of a fist fight having taken place on Division 15 between two subjects known to them as thieves, the officers picked up for questioning one of them, Robert Dickerson, 23 years, of 36 Austin street, Charlestown. Interrogation disclosed that the fight between him and the other subject, John A. McCarthy, 20 years, 106 Queensberry street, city, had occurred because the latter had taken money from Dickerson while he was sleeping, which money had been stolen by both men in a break at Hefferman Cleansers, 78 Queensberry street.

Following questioning of Dickerson, an attempt was made to locate McCarthy who had disappeared from his home and usual haunts. He was located by Patrolman Antonuccio in Everett at the home of his girl friend whose address the officer had in his diary from a previous case involving McCarthy. McCarthy was brought to Station 15 for questioning by Patrolmen Antonuccio and Williams, at which time he admitted to breaking and entering the Jersey Drug Store, 115 Jersey street, Boston, on April 24, 1960, and stealing $80. He also told the officers that on July 30, 1960, he and Robert Dickerson had broken into Hefferman Cleansers and had taken $151.89.

During interrogation of McCarthy about the various breaks on Division 16, he mentioned the name of Arthur O'Neal, 23 years, 6 Hathon square, Charlestown. He also was taken to Station 15 for questioning by Patrolmen Antonuccio and Williams and admitted being with McCarthy during the break at the Jersey Drug Store on April 24, 1960. At time of questioning O'Neal was out on bail following an arrest on Division 16 for an attempted break at the Jersey Drug Store on August 7, 1960. He stated that when he went to trial in this case, he would change his plea from not guilty to guilty.

McCarthy also stated to Patrolmen Antonuccio and Williams that on May 17, 1960, O'Neal, with one Roy T. McCallum, now an inmate at Billerica House of Correction, had broken into Hefferman Cleansers. O'Neal denied being involved in this break.

Arthur W. O'Neal, John A. McCarthy, and Robert Dickerson were booked at Station 15 on suspicion of breaking and entering a building in the nighttime and were turned over, together with all written statements made by them, for prosecution by officers of Division 16.

In Roxbury District Court on September 7, 1960, O'Neal was charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime at Jersey Drug Store on April 24, 1960, and held in $1,000 bail; McCarthy was charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime at the same premises on the same date and also with larceny in the building at Hefferman Cleansers on July 30, 1960, and held in $1,000 bail; Dickerson was charged with larceny in a building at Hefferman's on July 30, 1960, and held in $2,500 bail. Dickerson is presently on parole from a federal penitentiary.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty of Patrolman Antonuccio and Williams in the above cases. On hearing of the fist fight between two subjects known to them, they investigated to learn the cause, and found it to be a quarrel over money which had been stolen. Their perseverance in questioning and investigation resulted in bringing to justice three subjects with long criminal records of breaking and entering, larceny, and the carrying of firearms.

The Boston Retirement Board having approved the same, the following-named police officer is retired from active duty under the provisions of the State-Boston Retirement System, effective at the close of business Friday, September 30, 1960: Patrolman Thomas J. Kelly, Division 19.

Mass X-Ray Program Falls Far Short in Case-Finding Efforts

¶ In recent years mass X raying, in those geographic subdivisions of the City of Boston with the highest tuberculosis incidence, has regularly produced less than 0.5 new cases per 1,000 X rays, even though the areas were thoroughly prepared first.

¶ The Boston Case-Finding Committee decided the fault must be that the populations involved were too large, approximately 50,000. It was decided to try the same technique on the two census tracts with the highest tuberculosis incidence, each with a population of about 5,000. The results were equally unproductive. The committee was still not wholly convinced. Therefore, the new cases of tuberculosis reported for 1958 and 1959 were spotted on a map. An area of six blocks, with a population of 2,000, was selected with the highest tuberculosis incidence in the city. This area was worked up thoroughly. Then, two mobile units were stationed there for a week and house to house canvassing was employed. Despite these efforts, only 15.8 per cent of 1,440 X rays taken lived in the selected blocks and not a single new case of tuberculosis was found in the whole program.

¶ The Case-Finding Committee of the Boston Tuberculosis Program is finally convinced that the people important from the point of view of tuberculosis case-finding cannot be induced to come to the mobile X-ray unit; that, at least for the present, mass X raying to find new cases of tuberculosis in the City of Boston is not worth while.

Chief, Bureau of Disease Control.

NEW HEALTH DEPT. SERVICE AIDS CHILD DENTAL HEALTH

Dr. F. Robert Freckleton, Boston's Health Commissioner, on September 26 announced a new Health Department service which will contribute materially to the dental health of children. Daily clinics, by appointment, will be held Monday through Friday, from 3 P.M. to 5 P.M., in eight George Robert White Fund Health Units for the topical application of sodium fluoride to the teeth of children in the age group of six through twelve years.

"Topical application of sodium fluoride is a completely safe and scientific method which will help materially in preventing caries in children given this treatment," said Dr. Patrick J. Foley, Director of Dental Services for the Boston Health Department. "It cannot replace the beneficial effect of an adequate amount of sodium fluoride in the water supply, but it will afford a measure of protection. Twenty communities in Massachusetts have fluoridated water but Boston does not as yet, so this topical application is especially important for every child. A complete prophylaxis will be given each child prior to the application of sodium fluoride."

Appointments for this treatment are to be made with the dental hygienist or the dental assistant at the clinics listed below:

Charlestown Health Unit, 73 High street, Charlestown; East Boston Health Unit, 79 Paris street, East Boston; Harvard Street Health Unit, 895 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester; Hyde Park Health Unit, 26 Central avenue, Hyde Park; Savin Street Health Unit, 82 Savin street, Roxbury; South Boston Health Unit, 133 Dorchester street, South Boston; South End Health Unit, 57 E. Concord street, Boston; Whittier Street Health Unit, 20 Whittier street, Roxbury.

AUDITORIUM PLANS SUBJECT TO CHANGE TO FIT OPERA

Devotees of opera have been offered an opportunity to alter the plans of Boston's $12 million civic auditorium soon to be erected in Prudential Center, Back Bay, provided the cost of the extra work is covered by private contributions, Mayor John F. Collins stated on September 20.

There is involved, the Mayor said, a further problem of scheduling the opera season so as not to interfere with important conventions in Boston. Conventions are the prime purpose of the municipal auditorium. Prominent Bostonians interested in adapting the auditorium for opera are now giving the matter careful study, the Mayor said.

MERCHANTS BEAUTIFY DOWNTOWN

Merchants in Knoxville, Tennessee, are proceeding with step two in the revitalizing of the downtown area. An ancient Market House, 75 feet wide, is to be replaced with a shoppers' mall, benches, flowers and fountain and a new and smaller market house.

Step one in the program was completed last spring when the new promenade, built back of twelve business houses, was opened, bringing the equivalent of a suburban shopping center to downtown Knoxville.

Cost of the $750,000 project was carried by merchants and property owners who agreed to follow an architect's plan to provide parking space and at the same time beautify the shopping area.

ELABORATE PLANS FOR FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Prevention Week will be observed in Boston from October 9 to 15. In that connection, Mayor Collins, on October 6, stated as follows:

"At this time of year it is important that the entire citizenry pay particular attention to fire hazards, especially those resulting from heating equipment.

"During the past year there were 550,000 home fires in our nation, and as a result 5,500 persons were killed by fire in their own homes. Many of these fires could have been avoided by the exercise of carefulness and good judgment relative to conditions around the home likely to cause fire.

"It is my earnest plea to all our citizens to keep their homes in good order. Be careful of fire hazards."

Fire Prevention Week will be observed with a series of activities.

Fire Houses Open

Fire stations are to be open to the public between the hours of 12 noon and 8 P.M. for inspection of the premises. The commanding officer of each station will be available to show the visitors around the station and answer questions regarding the department, or have a suitable person assigned to this duty. Fire prevention literature will be distributed to the children.

Canvas signs giving notice that Fire Prevention Week is in progress will be displayed from fire stations.

Fire Drills

District fire chiefs are directed to take an active interest in the programs in the following manner:

By making arrangements with the various plants and industrial enterprises within the district to hold fire drills during the week.

All public and private schools within each district are to be visited by a district fire chief or duly delegated company officer and school fire drills shall be held during the week in all schools. Five-minute talks on the subject of fire prevention will be given.

Programs for Children

The School Department, in cooperation with the Fire Department, will distribute "Home Inspection Blanks." The teachers will collect the completed blanks from the pupils.

An essay contest is being conducted in all parochial and public schools in the city for the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the grammar schools. The topic is "What Fire Prevention Means to Me."

Each district fire chief has compiled a list of fraternal, social, civic, and professional organizations within the district and advertised to them the willingness of the Fire Department to provide company officers for the purpose of lecturing on fire prevention at any time.

All-Out Effort

Throughout the week, all fire fighters are to wear the department uniform going to and from the fire stations, even though they may be driving in their own cars. Fire fighters are to pay special attention to the observance of fire hazards and to the duty of observing and locating fire hazards along the route followed by them in their coming to and going from daily work. Dilapidated buildings, rubbish accumulations, and other hazards should be reported to the Fire Prevention Division.

A total of 100,000 pamphlets entitled "Fire Public Enemy Number 1" have been delivered to district headquarters and are to be distributed, if possible, to every business concern in the city where several or more people are employed.

It is intended that each citizen of the City of Boston receive a pamphlet relating to fire prevention during Fire Prevention Week, and the efforts of the entire fire fighting force are being enlisted in order to assist in the project.
